Sankofa Superherus 2 Volume 2:

Black Panther: Wakandan "Civitas" and Panthering Futurity Jorge Serrano, 2023-01-31 This interdisciplinary academic study is for readers interested in film media and the comic book genre. Superhero theories are abundant especially considering their use as a tool for coping with adversity and some note that it is an integral part of American society young formative minds in particular. It is not just about learning morals but also seeing how an ideal society should function and look. There are works that review superheroes and theories about comic book series adaptations in film and text but the writers in this compendium engage not only with the film and the intersectionality of women Asian culture Du Bois and even Greek Ajax and others for comparison but also comparative analysis of works that capture African and African diasporic representation throughout various historical time periods. The anthology presents discourse that engages a variety of assessments that involve questions of positive and pejorative representation. Educators will find this a useful tool for undergraduate students as well as general audiences interested in this popular film comic series. Forthcoming Books

Rose Army, 1995 In Media Res James Braxton Peterson, 2014-12-18 In Media Res is a manifold collection that reflects the intersectional qualities of university programming in the twenty first century. Taking race gender and popular culture as its central thematic subjects the volume collects academic essays speeches poems and creative works that critically engage a wide range of issues including American imperialism racial and gender discrimination the globalization of culture and the limitations of our new multimedia world. This diverse assortment of works by scholars activists and artists models the complex ways that we must engage university students faculty staff and administration in a moment where so many of us are confounded by the in medias res nature of our interface with the world in the current moment. Featuring contributions from Imani Perry Michael Eric Dyson Suheir Hammad John Jennings and Adam Mansbach In Media Res is a primer for academic inquiry into popular culture American studies critical media literacy women gender and sexuality studies and Africana studies. Children's Books in Print, 2007, 2006 Management Education in Canada Kristin S. Williams, Albert J Mills, Heidi Weigand, 2025-05-23 Management Education in Canada: Historical Reflections offers a fresh and critical look at the evolution of management education in Canada. Nearly 25 years after the seminal work Capitalizing Knowledge by Barbara Austin this edited collection revisits and expands upon the debates that shaped the field while introducing new perspectives and overlooked histories. Featuring ten scholarly essays from leading academics this volume explores a range of critical and historiographic approaches to management education highlighting the ways in which history is written privileged and at times neglected. Through a variety of themes including the gendered experiences of female Ph D graduates Africentric and Indigenous leadership approaches and the role of globalization in shaping management curricula the book prompts readers to reflect on the past present and future of management education in Canada. Chapters cover topics such as the influence of the Administrative Sciences Association of Canada the underrepresentation of French language business education and the critical interrogation of management textbooks Together these chapters offer a rich and comprehensive analysis of the cultural institutional and intellectual forces shaping the discipline This volume will engage scholars educators and students in business schools faculties of management and those interested in the broader history of higher education as well as anyone seeking to understand the historical development of management education in Canada It is an essential contribution to the ongoing conversation about what management education has been and what it could become

Shaping the Future of African American Film Monica White Ndounou, 2014-04-29 In Hollywood we hear it's all about the money It's a ready explanation for why so few black films get made no crossover appeal no promise of a big payoff But what if the money itself is color coded What if the economics that governs film production is so skewed that no film by about or for people of color will ever look like a worthy investment unless it follows specific racial or gender patterns This Monica Ndounou shows us is precisely the case In a work as revealing about the culture of filmmaking as it is about the distorted economics of African American film Ndounou clearly traces the insidious connections between history content and cash in black films How does history come into it Hollywood's reliance on past performance as a measure of potential success virtually guarantees that historically underrepresented underfunded and undersold African American films devalue the future prospects of black films So the cycle continues as it has for nearly a century Behind the scenes the numbers are far from neutral Analyzing the onscreen narratives and off screen circumstances behind nearly two thousand films featuring African Americans in leading and supporting roles including such recent productions as Bamboozled Beloved and Tyler Perry's Diary of a Mad Black Woman Ndounou exposes the cultural and racial constraints that limit not just the production but also the expression and creative freedom of black films Her wide ranging analysis reaches into questions of literature language speech and dialect film images and narrative acting theater and film business practices production history and financing and organizational history By uncovering the ideology behind profit driven industry practices that reshape narratives by about and for people of color this provocative work brings to light existing limitations and possibilities for reworking stories and business practices in theater literature and film

Black Panther Scott Bukatman, 2022-07-19 Black Panther was the first Black superhero in mainstream American comics Black Panther was a cultural phenomenon that broke box office records Yet it wasn't just a movie led by and starring Black artists It grappled with ideas and conflicts central to Black life in America and helped redress the racial dynamics of the Hollywood blockbuster Scott Bukatman one of the foremost scholars of superheroes and cinematic spectacle brings his impeccable pedigree to this lively and accessible study finding in the utopianism of Black Panther a way of re envisioning what a superhero movie can and should be while centering the Black creators performers and issues behind it He considers the superheroic Black body the Pan African fantasy feminism and Afrofuturism of Wakanda the African American relationship to Africa the political influence of director Ryan Coogler's earlier movies and the entwined performances of Chadwick Boseman's T Challa and Michael B Jordan's Killmonger Bukatman argues that Black Panther is
