Manager John le Carré,2015-09-16 Now an AMC miniseries The acclaimed novel from the 1 New York Times bestselling author of A Legacy of Spies and Tinker Tailor Soldier Spy John le Carr the legendary author of sophisticated spy thrillers is at the top of his game in this classic novel of a world in chaos With the Cold War over a new era of espionage has begun In the power vacuum left by the Soviet Union arms dealers and drug smugglers have risen to immense influence and wealth The sinister master of them all is Richard Onslow Roper the charming ruthless Englishman whose operation seems untouchable Slipping into this maze of peril is Jonathan Pine a former British soldier who s currently the night manager of a posh hotel in Zurich Having learned to hate and fear Roper more than any man on earth Pine is willing to do whatever it takes to help the agents at Whitehall bring him down and personal vengeance is only part of the reason why Praise for The Night Manager A splendidly exciting finely told story masterly in its conception The New York Times Book Review Intrigue of the highest order Chicago Sun Times Richly detailed and rigorously researched Le Carr s gift for building tension through character has never been better realized People Grimly fascinating often nerve wracking and impossible to put down Boston Herald British Imperial Strategies in the Pacific, 1750-1900 Jane Samson,2021-02-28 The focus of this volume is Britain s trans Pacific empire This began with haphazard challenges to Spanish dominion but by the end of the 18th century the British had established a colony in Australia and had gone to the brink of war with Spain to establish trading rights in the north Pacific These rights led to formal colonies in Vancouver Island and British Columbia when Britain sought to maintain a north Pacific presence despite American expansionism In the later 19th century the international scramble for the Pacific resulted in new British colonies and protectorates in the Pacific islands The result was a complex imperial presence created from a variety of motives and circumstances The essays selected here take account of the wide range of economic political and cultural factors which prompted British expansion creating tension in Britain s imperial identity in the Pacific and leaving Pacific peoples with a complicated and challenging legacy Along with the important new introduction they provide a basis for the reassessment of British imperialism in the Pacific region The Three Commanders William Henry Giles Kingston,2020-09-28 Alick Murray had not over praised the Highland home of which he had so often spoken when far away across the wide ocean The house substantially built in a style suited to that clime stood some way up the side of a hill which rose abruptly from the waters of Loch Etive on the north side of which it was situated To the west the hills were comparatively low the shores alternately widening and contracting and projecting in numerous promontories The higher grounds were clothed with heath and wood while level spaces below were diversified by cultivated fields To the east of the house up the loch the scenery assumed a character much more striking and grand Far as the eye could reach appeared a succession of lofty and barren mountains rising sheer out of the water on the calm surface of which their fantastic forms were reflected as in a mirror Across the loch the lofty summit of Ben Cruachan appeared towering to the sky The scenery immediately surrounding Murray s domain of Bercaldine was of extreme beauty At some little distance the hill rising abruptly was covered with oak ash birch and alder producing a rich tone of colouring the rowan and hawthorn trees mingling their snowy blossoms or coral berries with the foliage of the more gigantic natives of the forest while the dark purple heath in tufted wreaths and numerous wild flowers were interspersed amid the rich sward and underwood along the shore beneath Behind the house were shrubberies and a well cultivated kitchen garden sheltered on either side by a thick belt of pines while in front a lawn also protected by shrubberies from the keen winds which blew down from the mountain heights sloped towards the loch with a gravel walk leading to the landing place Murray had added a broad verandah to the front of the house to remind himself and Stella of Don Antonio s residence in Trinidad where they had first met Indeed in some of its features the scenery recalled to their memories the views they had enjoyed in that lovely island and though they confessed that Trinidad carried off the palm of beauty yet they both loved far better their own Highland home New Guinea and
