processes and the necessity of the coexistence of various cultures and traditions the subject of inter religious dialogue seems to be particularly significant Can religions remain isolated islands Are their claims of being the only source of theological truth justified Or should it rather be understood as an effect of interaction between different points of view and common effort of looking for the answers to the questions about God and his relations to the world What is the role of dialogue Is it only a politically correct element or maybe something more essential the basis of reasonable existence and development of religion Should the direction traced by 20th century s partisans of ecumenical movements be widened in order to embrace also non Christian religions What is the orthodoxy and where are its boundaries The process philosophy creates a convenient and favorable atmosphere for this kind of considerations The articles of this selection represent different points of view of the discussed topic The book is addressed to all who deal with the inter religious dialogue both clergy and laymen as well as scholars and students interested in the subject interreligious projects remains scant in comparison This volume offers a unique contribution that not only looks at several of the challenges and implications faced by religious and interreligious peacebuilders but also provides concrete examples of new models and tools for monitoring and evaluating religious and interreligious peacebuilding projects In doing so this volume serves as a tool and point of reference for individuals and organizations developing and implementing interreligious dialogue and peacebuilding projects
