In Search of Wonderful Ideas Mary Kay Delaney, Susan Jean Mayer, 2021 Drawing on the work of Eleanor Duckworth the authors examine critical exploration in the classroom a student centered learning approach that Duckworth developed herself drawing on the work of Jean Piaget Per the authors such teaching and learning relies upon teachers developed knowledge skills and wisdom in the practices of intentional listening observing and sensitive question posing and on their ability to conduct open and materials based intellectual explorations with a diverse array of students The complex work that the authors outline has grown less visible within programs of teacher education and in classrooms as other interests prevail challenges like edTP A and standards based instruction The authors make a case for critical exploration within programs of teacher education and demonstrate across chapters the ways in which such an approach may manifest itself within and across disciplinary domains Math Odyssey 2000 Clement E. Mathematics in Service to the Community Charles Robert Hadlock, 2005 Publisher description This book looks at the wide variety of ways in which math statistics and math education teachers have incorporated service learning into their courses These projects are not just stand alone community service initiatives but rather they specifically target the improvement of mathematics skills and insights of the college students in the courses with which they are associated In some cases the projects are the major focus of the courses In others they may range from an essential component to one of several options The book also speculates about heretofore untapped possibilities for service learning even including courses in pure mathematics College faculty often may not fully appreciate the wide range of support mechanisms for such ventures even within their own institutions so the book includes a lengthy chapter on the details of converting a rough idea to a solid action
