The Light Between Oceans by M L Stedman Conversation Starters A Brief Look Inside The Light Between Oceans The Light Between Oceans is M L Stedman's first and only novel to date. It tells the story of Tom and Isabel Sherbourne who find an abandoned child and take the child into their home and raise it as their own. Soon the biological mother is found. Eventually the story becomes a question of right and wrong because Tom and Isabel must decide whether or not to tell the truth about the child. That question becomes more and more difficult to answer as time goes on. The Light Between Oceans was named as a Goodreads Book of the Year in 2014 and was called extraordinary by The Guardian. EVERY GOOD BOOK CONTAINS A WORLD FAR DEEPER than the surface of its pages. The characters and their world come alive and the characters and its world still live on. Conversation Starters is peppered with questions designed to bring us beneath the surface of the page and invite us into the world that lives on. These questions can be used to create hours of conversation. Foster a deeper understanding of the book. Promote an atmosphere of discussion for groups. Assist in the study of the book either individually or corporately. Explore unseen realms of the book as never seen before. Disclaimer: This book you are about to enjoy is an independent resource to supplement the original book, enhancing your experience of The Light Between Oceans. If you have not yet purchased a copy of the original book, please do so before purchasing this unofficial Conversation Starters.

Islands, Identity and the Literary Imagination Elizabeth McMahon, 2016-07-09 Australia is the planet's sole island continent. This book argues that the uniqueness of this geography has shaped Australian history and culture, including its literature. Further, it shows how the fluctuating definition of the island continent throws new light on the relationship between islands and continents in the mapping of modernity. The book links the historical and geographical conditions of islands with their potent role in the imaginaries of European colonisation. It prises apart the tangled web of geography, fantasy, desire, and writing that has framed the Western understanding of islands, both their real and material conditions and their symbolic power from antiquity into globalised modernity. The book also traces how this spatial imaginary has shaped the modern man who is imagined as being the island's mirror. The inter-relationship of the island, fantasy, colonial expansion, and the literary construction of place and history created a new man, the dislocated and alienated subject of post-colonial modernity. This book looks at the contradictory images of islands: from the allure of the desert island as a paradise where the world can be made anew, to their roles as prisons as these ideas are made concrete at moments of British colonialism. It also considers alternatives to viewing islands as objects of possession in the archipelagic visions of island theorists and writers. It compares the European understandings of the first and last of the new worlds: the Caribbean archipelago and the Australian island continent, to calibrate the different ways these disparate geographies unified and fractured the concept of the planetary globe. In particular, it examines the role of the island in this process, specifically its capacity to figure a graspable globe in the mind. The book draws on the colonial archive and ranges across Australian literature from the first novel written and published in Australia by a convict on the island of Tasmania to both the ancient dreaming and the burgeoning literature of Aboriginal and

Torres Strait Islanders in the twenty first century It discusses Australian literature in an international context drawing on the long traditions of literary islands across a range of cultures The book s approach is theoretical and engages with contemporary philosophy which uses the island and the archipelago as a key metaphor It is also historicist and includes considerable original historical research
