

The book cover for 'Night' by Elie Wiesel features a black and white photograph of a person standing behind a barbed wire fence, with a brick building in the background. The title 'NIGHT' is in large black letters, and 'ELIE WIESEL' is in large blue letters. There are several blue and grey geometric shapes overlapping the right side of the cover. The background of the entire image is a black and white photograph of a concentration camp, showing a long brick building with many windows and a barbed wire fence in the foreground.

Questions in the Classroom Katherine G. Simon, 2001-01-01 In this study Katherine Simon analyses the ways teachers address or avoid moral issues that arise in middle and high school classrooms then explains how morally charged issues may be taught responsibly in a diverse democracy Common Core CPR ReLeah Cossett Lent, Barry Gilmore, 2013-09-27 The ideal Newly minted high school graduates all across the nation each one a complex text genius a writer and analytic thinker beyond compare All on to glorious colleges and careers thanks to the Common Core The reality The 1 3 million students who fail to graduate from high school each year and the hundreds of thousands more who either gave up or lost interest long ago The reality is why Common Core CPR is needed Urgently Because if we continue to insist that all students meet expectations that are well beyond their abilities and mindsets these kids will only decline faster We must be brave enough and trained enough to cast aside what we know harms students and apply with renewed vigor the teaching methods we know work Releah Lent and Barry Gilmore rise to the challenge and there are no two authors better equipped to do so They embrace what is best about the standards their emphasis on active authentic learning and then explicitly show teachers how to connect these ideal outcomes to practical classroom strategies detailing the day to day teaching that can coax reluctant learners into engagement and achievement You ll learn how to Consider choice and relevance in every assignment Plan and spot opportunities for success Scaffold students comprehension of complex fiction and nonfiction texts Model close reading through thoughtful questioning Teach students to use evidence in reading writing speaking and reflection And so much more It s not the big sweeping formulas for achievement that will win the day it s the incremental growth that teachers need to make happen that one book that one writing assignment to help a student turn a corner If we can get that one transformational moment to occur and follow it up by designing more opportunities for success that s the ideal say Lent and Gilmore Preventing Genocide David A. Hamburg, 2015-11-17 Genocide has been called a problem from hell and despite vehement declarations of never again it s a problem that continues to plague the world From the beginning of history to the most recent massacres in Bosnia Rwanda and Darfur genocide defies resolution And given today s worldwide access to highly lethal weapons and advanced communications technology facilitating incitement to hate we can expect to see this problem grow. It is often claimed that genocide occurs without warning taking both local and global communities by surprise. Yet as David Hamburg convincingly shows, we have had long-term advance knowledge of most modern genocides dating back to the early 20th century Armenian tragedy in Turkey and before. In this book, Dr. Hamburg applies a groundbreaking new perspective: the medical model of prevention to the scourge of genocide in the world. Preventing genocide is not only possible, Dr. Hamburg contends, but essential given its high cost in lives, human rights, and international security. Here he maps out numerous practical steps to recognize genocidal conflicts early and stem their tides of violence before they become acute. He also outlines several institutions in place and programs underway at the UN, EU, and NATO devoted to preventing future genocides before they erupt. He draws lessons both from missed opportunities and successful experiences and makes many constructive suggestions about strengthening international institutions, governments, and NGOs for this purpose.

Irreconcilable Differences? A Learning Resource For Jews And Christians David Sandmel, Rosann M. Catalano, Christopher M. Leighton, 2018-03-08. Written by Jewish and Christian educators for use by college and adult learners, this volume explores eight basic questions that lie at the core of both traditions and that can serve as a bridge for understanding. Among the questions are: Do Jews and Christians worship the same God? Do Jews and Christians read the Bible the same way? What is the place of the land of Israel for Jews and Christians? Are the irreconcilable differences between Christians and Jews a blessing or a curse or both? Each chapter includes discussion questions.

Problems Unique to the Holocaust Harry J. Cargas, 1999-01-01. In Problems Unique to the Holocaust, today's leading Holocaust scholars examine the difficult questions surrounding this terrible chapter in world history. Is it ever legitimate to betray others to save yourself? If a group of Jews is hiding behind a wall and a baby begins to cry, should an adult smother the child to protect the safety of the others? Should the men and women who took their own lives in the face of the Nazi onslaught be considered suicide or murder victims How guilty are the bystanders who saw what was happening but did nothing to aid the victims of persecution

Living among the Dead Adena Bernstein Astrowsky, Hilary Levine, 2022-01-01 An Educator's Guide is now available to assist those teaching about the Holocaust by using the book Living among the Dead The Guide can be used chapter by chapter to enhance the student's understanding of the narrative There are multiple suggestions and lessons to take us deeper into the history of the Holocaust and this story of strength family love community solidarity and Jewish history

Teaching Death and Dying Christopher M Moreman, 2008-10-03 The academic study of death rose to prominence during the 1960s Courses on some aspect of death and dying can now be found at most institutions of higher learning These courses tend to stress the psycho social aspects of grief and bereavement however ignoring the religious elements inherent to the subject This collection is the first to address the teaching of courses on death and dying from a religious studies perspective

Homework Done Right Janet Alleman, Jere Brophy, Ben Botwinski, Barbara Knighton, Rob Ley, 2015-02-03 Homework Done Right shows teachers how homework assignments can connect with the curriculum and how to make it applicable to their students' lives Educators will learn how to design and implement active creative assignments that promote useful skills like inquiry problem solving and critical thinking Moving beyond the current homework debate this resource is split into three sections to explain the rationale for meaningful homework how to make it relevant and how students in different grades respond to it Additionally teachers will learn about Effective homework strategies and sample assignments for all K 12 levels in numerous subject areas Do's and don'ts of homework planning Promoting parent involvement Guidance on helping students develop leadership and collaboration skills through activities such as questioning evidence gathering and interviewing Classroom ready tools including homework planning forms and other reproducibles When homework assignments are challenging and relevant students have a new opportunity to engage with learning and will be able to succeed academically

Fantasies of Witnessing Gary Weissman, 2018-07-05 Fantasies of Witnessing explores how and why those deeply interested in the Holocaust yet with no direct familial connection to it endeavor to experience it vicariously through sites or texts designed to make it real for nonwitnesses Gary Weissman argues that far from overwhelming nonwitnesses with its magnitude of horror the Holocaust threatens to feel distant and unreal A prevailing rhetoric of secondary memory and trauma he contends and efforts to portray the Holocaust as an immediate and personal experience are responses to an encroaching sense of unreality In America we are haunted not by the traumatic impact of the Holocaust but by its absence When we take an interest in the Holocaust we are not overcoming a fearful aversion to its horror but endeavoring to actually feel the horror of what otherwise eludes us Weissman focuses on specific attempts to locate the Holocaust in the person of Elie Wiesel the most renowned survivor and his classic memoir Night in videotaped survivor stories and Lawrence L Langer's celebrated book Holocaust Testimonies and in the films Shoah and Schindler's List These representations he explains constitute a movement away from the view popularized by Wiesel that those who did not live through the Holocaust will never be able to grasp its horror and toward re creating the Holocaust as an experience nonwitnesses may put themselves through It is only by acknowledging the desire that gives shape to such representations and by exploring their place in the ongoing contest over who really knows the Holocaust and feels its horror that we can arrive at a more candid assessment of our current and future relationships to the Holocaust he says Illinois English Bulletin ,2005 Resources in Education ,1998 Witness Between Languages Peter Davies,Peter J. Davies,2018 A growing body of scholarship is making visible the contribution of translators to the creation preservation and transmission of knowledge about the Holocaust The discussion has tended to be theoretical or to concentrate on exposing the distorted translations of texts by important witnesses such as Anne Frank or Elie Wiesel There is therefore a need for a positive concrete and contextually aware approach to the translation of Holocaust testimonies that acknowledges the achievements of translators while being sensitive to the consequences of particular translation strategies Peter Davies s study proceeds from the assumption that translators are active co creators whose work does not simply mediate a pre existing text but creates a representation of that text for a new readership in a specific context Translators of Holocaust testimonies then provide a form of textual commentary that works through ideas about witnessing historical truth and the meaning of the Holocaust In this way they are important co creators of knowledge about the Holocaust and its legacy The study focuses on translations between English and German and from other languages principally French Russian and Polish into English and German It works through a number of case studies showing how making translation and its effects visible contributes to a clearer understanding of how knowledge about the Holocaust has been and continues to be created and mediated Peter Davies is Professor of German at the University of Edinburgh There are no Right Answers to Wrong Questions Peter C. Wilcox,2016-06-28 Abraham Joshua Heschel said that We are closer to God when we are asking questions than when we have the answers He believed that to be a Christian is not to be a person who knows all the answers but one who lives in the part of the self where the question is constantly being born Most of us don t think very much about our questions In our culture we are accustomed to being able to find out answers to nearly any question just by typing it into Google search or asking Siri But behind any answer there is always a question Sometimes the question isn t clear to us sometimes it is not very well articulated even to ourselves But it is always there In over thirty years as a psychotherapist and spiritual director Peter C Wilcox has seen how the questions people ask themselves have shaped their lives in some very important ways This book is an invitation to see how important it is to learn how to ask the right questions about our lives This is because our choice of questions leads us on a path of discovery towards answers that help us to grow spiritually and psychologically Our questions orient our lives and give direction to us We will see that they enable us to make fifteen choices that have a tremendous impact on the kind of person we become Religious Studies, Theology, and the University Linell E. Cady,Delwin Brown,2002-10-10 This collection explores the highly contested relationship of religious studies and theology and the place of each if any in secular institutions of higher education The founding narrative of religious studies with its sharp distinction between teaching religion and teaching about religion grows less compelling in the face of globalization and the erosion of modernism These essays take up the challenge of thinking through the identity and borders of religious studies and theology for our time Reflecting a broad range of positions the authors explore the religious secular conceptual landscape that has dominated the modern West and in the process address the revision of the academic study of religion and theology now underway

The Literacy Cookbook Sarah Tantillo, 2012-11-16 Proven methods for teaching reading comprehension to all students The Literacy Cookbook is filled with classroom tested techniques for teaching reading comprehension to even the most hard to reach students The book offers a review of approaches that are targeted for teaching reading writing speaking and listening skills The book also includes information on how to connect reading writing and test prep Contains accessible and easy to adopt recipes for strengthening comprehension reading writing and oral fluency Terrific resources are ready for download on the companion website The materials in this book are aligned with the English Language Arts Common Core Standards The website includes an ELA Common Core Tracking Sheet a handy resource when writing or evaluating curriculum

But There Was Love Michal Govrin, Dana Freibach-Heifetz, Etty BenZaken, Raya Morag, 2025-04-21 But There Was Love Shaping the Memory of the Shoah proposes a new paradigm for Shoah remembrance in today s cultural and political reality It derives from the four year workings of a group of researchers and artists at The Van Leer Jerusalem Institute led by Michal Govrin The group positions the extraordinary Jewish and non Jewish human struggle in facing dehumanization and extermination as the essence of the Shoah challenging us with a profound ethical call
