Rural Scenes and National Representation Elizabeth K. Helsinger, 2014-07-14 Elizabeth Helsinger's iconoclastic book explores the peculiar power of rural England to stand for conflicting ideas of Britain Despite the nostalgic appeal of Constable's or Tennyson's rural scenes they record the severe social and economic disturbances of the turbulent years after Waterloo Artists and writers like Cobbett Clare Turner Emily Bront and George Eliot competed to claim the English countryside as ideological ground No image of rural life produced consensus over the great questions who should constitute the nation and how should they be represented Helsinger ponders how some images of rural life and land come to serve as national metaphors while others challenge their constructions of Englishness at the heart of the British Empire Drawing on recent work in social history nationalism and geography as well as the visual and literary arts Helsinger recovers other possible and alternative readings of social ties embedded in the imagery of land She reflects on the power of rural images to transfer local loyalties to the national scene first popularizing then institutionalizing them By turning a critical gaze on these scenes she comments on the difference between art and ideology and the problems and dangers of asserting any kind of national identity through imagery of the land Originally published in 1996 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Birds and Their Nests Mary Howitt, 1872 Romanticism, Memory, and

Mourning Mark Sandy, 2016-04-08 The subject of Romanticism Memory and Mourning could not be timelier with Žižek's recent proclamation that we are living in the end times and in an era which is preoccupied with the process and consequences of ageing. We mourn both for our pasts and futures as we now recognise that history is a continuation and record of loss. Mark Sandy explores the treatment of grief, loss and death across a variety of Romantic poetic forms including the ballad, sonnet, epic, elegy, fragment, romance and ode in the works of poets as diverse as Smith, Hemans, Blake, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Byron, Shelley, Keats and Clare. Romantic meditations on grief, however varied in form and content, are self-consciously aware of the complexity and strength of feelings surrounding the consolation or disconsolation that their structures of poetic memory afford those who survive the imaginary and actual dead. Romantic mourning, Sandy shows, finds expression in disparate poetic forms and how it manifests itself both as the spirit of its age, rooted in precise historical conditions, and as a proleptic power of lasting transhistorical significance. Romantic meditations on grief and loss speak to our contemporary anxieties about the inevitable but unthinkable event of death itself.
