

The image is a composite. The top half shows a dark, empty hallway with a light source at the far end, creating a strong perspective. The bottom half shows a Sony Alpha 7R II camera with its lens cap removed, revealing the lens. The camera's LCD screen is flipped out and displays the same hallway image seen in the top half. The text "NIGHT ENCOUNTERS" is written in a red, hand-painted style across the middle of the image, between the camera and the top hallway scene.

Sonic Encounters with Blanchot Adam Potts, 2020-06-05 Sonic Encounters with Blanchot is the first book to explore the relationship of sound and music with the work of Maurice Blanchot. The volume brings together scholars from a range of disciplines who listen closely to the sounds and resonances emanating from within Blanchot's work and who consider their significance both within his work and beyond. The latent and explicit sonic content of Blanchot's writing is explored as is his treatment of music and the possibilities of thinking about contemporary music and sound art through his work. Although Blanchot is best known for his engagement with literature, an engagement that often relies on visual references and experiences, this collection takes a sonic route into one of the most exciting and demanding thinkers of the twentieth century. As an interdisciplinary exploration of sound and Blanchot's work, this book will be of interest to those studying sound in literature and music as well as students of Blanchot's work in general. This book was originally published as a special issue of Angelaki.

Dorian Gray and Edgar Allan Poe's The Oval Portrait will love the echoes in this modern day story. Escape into a gripping romance that will captivate you until the very last page. Nietzsche and Dostoevsky Paolo Stellino, 2015-09-17 The first time that Nietzsche crossed the path of Dostoevsky was in the winter of 1886-87. While in Nice, Nietzsche discovered in a bookshop the volume L'esprit souterrain. Two years later he defined Dostoevsky as the only psychologist from whom he had anything to learn. The second metaphorical encounter between Nietzsche and Dostoevsky happened on the verge of nihilism. Nietzsche announced the death of God, whereas Dostoevsky warned against the danger of atheism. This book describes the double encounter between Nietzsche and Dostoevsky. Following the chronological thread offered by Nietzsche's correspondence, the author provides a detailed analysis of Nietzsche's engagement with Dostoevsky from the very beginning of his discovery to the last days before his mental breakdown. The second part of this book aims to dismiss the wide spread and stereotypical reading according to which Dostoevsky foretold and criticized in his major novels some of Nietzsche's most dangerous and nihilistic theories. In order to reject such reading, the author focuses on the following moral dilemma: If God does not exist, is everything permitted. HEAT Lisa Carlisle, 2018-01-08 A gargoyle statue that's more than stone. Contemporary television fictions allow the audience to experience the reality of everyday life in audio visual spaces. Thus controversial issues discussed in German society such as homosexuality, racism or clashes of cultures are revisited in the social drama films produced for German television through a mixture of generic conventions such as tragedy, thriller and melodrama. Consequently the audio visual representations of the people who are the focus of these discussions represent an interesting area of research. The book deals with the audio visual spatiality of the Turkish diaspora in Berlin in three contemporary TV films in this format: namely Wut (Range) dir Zuli Alada 2006, Die Neue (The Newcomer) dir Buket Alaku 2015 and Nachspielzeit (Extra Time) dir Andreas Pieper 2015. Therewith it brings a spatial approach to the issue of polemical belonging of the Turkish Diaspora to the German national space within the audio visual context. The proposed spatial approach presents an alternative argument to the assumptions of German politicians who celebrate a common German history that bases on Christian Jewish identity, democracy and enlightenment.
