Practical Theology is a growing discipline in its own right and the latest thinking in practical theology of how to use theological learning in practical situations is fully explored in this new edition of an established textbook. The authors examine methodologies of the social sciences and questions how they can enable the task of theological reflection, examine the relationship between qualitative and quantitative methods and highlight the significance of both for the task of practical theology. They also take the reader through the actual process of developing and carrying out a research project using the author's own research as case study examples. Previous case studies include the rise in spirituality, the decline in church attendance, evidence based medicine compared to needs led assessments, the growth in chaplaincy and how it is understood as separate from parish ministry. In this second edition, case studies and all bibliographies have been updated, plus a new chapter has been added. Doing Research/Reading Research Paul Dowling, Andrew Brown, 2012-12-06. This bestselling text enables beginning researchers to organise and evaluate the research they read and to plan and implement small scale research projects of their own. It gives structured practical guidance on the development of a research question, techniques of data collection, qualitative and quantitative forms of analysis, the writing and dissemination of research. The authors present research as a principled activity that begins with the establishing and structuring of theoretical and empirical fields and research findings as serving to ask questions of educational practice rather than directing it. This revised and updated second edition includes a new chapter dealing with the complex issue of research ethics. It also includes consideration of digital technologies and new media both as settings of research and research tools. The chapters on qualitative and quantitative analysis have been expanded and the annotated bibliography updated. The authors have been active researchers in educational studies for more than twenty years. They have also supervised numerous doctoral and masters dissertations and taught research methods programmes in various higher education institutions around the world as well as in the Institute of Education, University of London. The Routledge Encyclopedia of Research Methods in Applied Linguistics A. Preach the Word Myles MacBean,2019-11-11 How should we help equip the church leaders of Africa today There remains a well documented lack of theologically sound Bible centric preaching in Sub Saharan Africa The majority of sermons are preached by untrained or undertrained church leaders Following a practical theology praxis this book develops a conceptual framework for the evaluation of existing alternative approaches to grassroots preacher training It also proposes broad principles for effective preacher training and offers a practical solution The 20th century had seen the Christian church in Africa grow 36 fold to 360 million This amazing growth is arguably the largest religious change in human history in such a short period It has shifted the focus of Christianity from North to South This rapid growth is debatably considered by some missiologists and theologians to have resulted in an African church a mile wide and an inch deep That is a church of great size but lacking in spiritual depth The rapid growth has led to insufficient numbers of trained leaders being available to oversee their congregations Most leaders are unpaid Untrained or undertrained leaders have an inadequate knowledge of scripture and lack understanding of its interpretation They also lack the skills they need to communicate its truths Even so they preach up to 90% of the sermons in rural Africa Despite a tremendous hunger for training among many of those preachers traditional college based theological education cannot keep up with the demand for trained pastors and preachers in an affordable or culturally appropriate manner
