

STUDENT Learning Objective

SLO

Writing student learning objectives can feel like a complicated task. These are created based on your personal, grade level, or district goal and your expectations for student progress. SLOs are tailored to your class and are very individualized. Some things to consider before selecting a skill for your SLO: What is a district goal? What is a grade level goal? Based on assessments, which skill needs to be addressed? Which skill/concept appears to be the most difficult for students to grasp?

SLO documentation should include:

- Identifying a skill to improve
- Composing a focus statement
- Noting the corresponding TEKS, or skills
- Determining what various levels of students can do, should be able to do, and will be able to do
- Creating a guide for growth that includes differentiation, strategies to monitor progress, and a plan for collaborating with other professionals

The examples included are generic and meant to guide you in creating your own goal. Keep in mind that each principal, or approver, will have different expectations in how these are written. They may have specific verbiage or want it to be more or less detailed. I've included two sample SLOs to get you started. Both are related to writing, 4th grade and 6th grade; however, they can be easily modified for any grade or subject. There is space for you to create your own if you download the file.

Defensible Teacher Evaluation Rick Stiggins, 2014-03-11 Meaningful teacher evaluation starts with visible student growth. Annual standardized test scores cannot provide evidence of student growth needed to evaluate teacher performance. But consider student growth in the form of evidence derived from classroom assessment and you're on to something. For assessment expert Rick Stiggins, this can form the basis for a truly productive teacher evaluation strategy. This revolutionary book helps you bring classroom assessment to bear for real school improvement with a plan for teacher evaluation based in part on dependable evidence of student growth. Strategies for improving the assessment literacy of teachers and school leaders. Five steps for developing and implementing productive local district assessment systems. Practical tools that teachers and their evaluators can put to use immediately. In this era of aggressive teacher evaluation reform where teachers are charged with preparing ALL students to master 21st century proficiencies, the measurement of teacher success must start where learning happens in the classroom. Developing a fair, practical, and effective teacher evaluation system is like climbing a high mountain; it's impossible until someone finds a route. That's what Rick does in this book. He identifies the immense challenges associated with using evidence on student learning as the principal criteria in teacher evaluation and then offers practical guidance for overcoming those challenges. He hasn't made the climb easy, but he shows us the way. Thomas R. Guskey, Professor of Educational Psychology, University of Kentucky. Rick Stiggins builds a compelling case for the development of a solid foundation of assessment competence throughout our educational system. Linda Darling-Hammond, Charles E. Ducommun, Professor of Education, Stanford University. Teacher Evaluation that Makes a Difference Robert J. Marzano, Michael D. Toth, 2013. In Teacher Evaluation that Makes a Difference, Robert J. Marzano and Michael D. Toth introduce a new model of teacher evaluation that takes into account multiple, data-rich measures of teacher performance and student growth to ensure fair, meaningful, and reliable evaluations for all teachers. 10 Models of Teacher Evaluation David Silverberg, Linda Jungwirth, 2014-02-04. For the first time, school districts around the country are being required to adopt formal accountability measures to assess teacher effectiveness. In a radical shift, teacher quality will be based on outputs: student achievement, teacher observations, rather than inputs: years of service, degrees attained. This change in school culture and practice is an attempt to improve everything from individual student learning to national economic competitiveness. It also requires that administrators implement new and rigorous teacher evaluation programs that align with state and federal guidelines. Busy administrators lack the training and experience necessary to quickly and efficiently craft a teacher evaluation system that successfully meets the needs of their district. Questions like "What is the best program for my district?" or "How do I get the teachers on board?" are being asked by school leaders across the country. This book provides real-world answers by highlighting 10 diverse model programs from around the country. Improving Teacher Evaluation Systems Jason A. Grissom, Peter Youngs, 2016. This is the first book to gather and address what we have learned about the impacts and challenges of data intensive teacher evaluation systems a defining characteristic of the current education policy landscape Book Features Contributions by scholars working at the cutting edge of research and pioneering leaders directly involved in the implementation of teacher evaluation systems Examination of the challenges and impact multiple measures based evaluations are having on teaching and learning Empirical research on the reliability and validity of evaluation measures including classroom observation instruments value added measures student surveys and teacher portfolios Contributors include Ryan Balch Marisa Cannata Casey D Cobb Julie Cohen Sean P Corcoran Morgaen L Donaldson Tim Drake Dan Goldhaber Ellen Goldring Bridget K Hamre Gary T Henry Nathan D Jones Venessa A Keesler Susanna Loeb Robert C Pianta Min Sun Andrea Whittaker Grissom and Youngs collect our best research based knowledge on the topic in a smart accessible volume that sets the standard in the field John Tyler Brown University An insightful guide to new teacher evaluation systems The contributions from individual authors couple what we know about measurement quality in these systems with a valuable first look at on the ground implementation Heather Hill Harvard Graduate School of Education One of the most significant recent changes in school district administration has been the widespread development and implementation of teacher evaluation systems based on pupil performance and other measures This book brings together top scholars who identify key issues providing insights into possible benefits and perils Robert E Floden Michigan State University What Really Works With Exceptional Learners Wendy W. Murawski, Kathy Lynn Scott, 2017-01-20 Your desk reference for success with exceptional students As education trends promote the inclusion of students with special needs this book is the perfect resource for teachers and administrators who need to know what works and what doesn't With personal experiences references and reproducibles this book identifies evidence based practices in an easy access format The editors and authors examine how special educational needs affect Content areas like reading and math Specialization areas like autism and learning disabilities Pedagogical areas like culturally responsive practices and accommodations Other critical areas like legal issues behavior challenges and home school collaboration Getting Teacher Evaluation Right Linda Darling-Hammond, 2015-04-28 Teacher evaluation systems are being overhauled by states and districts across the United States And while intentions are admirable the result for many new systems is that good often excellent teachers are lost in the process In the end students are the losers In her new book Linda Darling Hammond makes a compelling case for a research based approach to teacher evaluation that supports collaborative models of teacher planning and learning She outlines the most current research informing evaluation of teaching practice that incorporates evidence of what teachers do and what their students learn In addition she examines the harmful consequences of using any single student test as a basis for evaluating individual teachers Finally Darling Hammond offers a vision of teacher evaluation as part of a teaching and learning system that supports continuous improvement both for individual teachers and for the profession as a whole Handbook of Leadership and Administration for Special Education Jean B. Meeting the Challenges to Measurement in an Era of Accountability Henry Braun,2016-01-29 Under pressure and support from the federal government states have increasingly turned to indicators based on student test scores to evaluate teachers and schools as well as students themselves The focus thus far has been on test scores in those subject areas where there is a sequence of consecutive tests such as in mathematics or English language arts with a focus on grades 4 8 Teachers in these subject areas however constitute less than thirty percent of the teacher workforce in a district Comparatively little has been written about the measurement of achievement in the other grades and subjects This volume seeks to remedy this imbalance by focusing on the assessment of student achievement in a broad range of grade levels and subject areas with particular attention to their use in the evaluation of teachers and schools in all It addresses traditional end of course tests as well as alternative measures such as portfolios exhibitions and student learning objectives In each case issues related to design and development psychometric considerations and validity challenges are covered from both a generic and a content specific perspective The NCME Applications of Educational Measurement and Assessment series includes edited volumes designed to inform research based applications of educational measurement and assessment Edited by leading experts these books are comprehensive and practical resources on the latest developments in the field The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license
