Smart Objectives For 3rd Grade Students

Bena Kallick, Allison Zmuda

Smart Objectives For 3rd Grade Students:

Building Shared Responsibility for Student Learning Anne Conzemius, Jan O'Neill, 2001 Who is responsible for student learning Walk into an effective school and ask this question of anyone a teacher a student the principal a parent volunteer a secretary and you ll get the same answer I am Shared responsibility is something school communities build from within It s what happens when all school people accept that what they do makes a difference in how all students learn when they have the knowledge they need to make informed decisions about the best way to promote learning and when they have the skills and opportunities to translate their ideas into effective action Anne Conzemius and Jan O'Neill present a practical framework for building shared responsibility within schools and school systems They identify three critical components Focus The common vision mission values and expectations that provide clarity and lead to new levels of performance Reflection The commitment to test assumptions learn from data and adjust practices accordingly Collaboration The process of developing relationships where all work toward the same objectives and rely on each other to achieve their goals Building shared responsibility for student learning is an ongoing activity a journey and not a destination This research based resource provides a map in the form of effective structures systems processes and policies It explains how to set powerful goals and shares inspiring stories of educators who have embarked on this journey toward higher professional competency increased staff satisfaction rising test scores and improved student results

The Power of SMART Goals Anne Conzemius, Jan O'Neill, 2009-04-01 Help staff focus on results and implement SMART Strategic and specific Measurable Attainable Results based and Time bound goals to transform your school into a place where every student meets or exceeds standards The authors present four success stories from real SMART schools and several frameworks for adult and student goal setting that lead to real results

Students at the Center Bena Kallick, Allison Zmuda, 2017-01-30 Educators most important work is to help students develop the intellectual and social strength of character necessary to live well in the world The way to do this argue authors Bena Kallick and Allison Zmuda is to increase the say students have in their own learning and prepare them to navigate complexities they face both inside and beyond school This means rethinking traditional teacher and student roles and re examining goal setting lesson planning assessment and feedback practices It means establishing classrooms that prioritize Voice Involving students in the what and the how of learning and equipping them to be stewards of their own education Co creation Guiding students to identify the challenges and concepts they want to explore and outline the actions they will take Social construction Having students work with others to theorize pursue common goals build products and generate performances Self discovery Teaching students to reflect on their own developing skills and knowledge so that they will acquire new understandings of themselves and how they learn Based on their exciting work in the field Kallick and Zmuda map out a transformative model of personalization that puts students at the center and asks them to employ the set of dispositions for engagement and learning known as the Habits of Mind They share the perspectives of educators engaged in
