

Commentary

The first sentence tells us the title, author, type of essay, topic, and thesis, with an observation that the thesis comes toward the end (inductive structure). Finding the thesis in personal writing can be especially demanding, because, in many cases, personal essayists use inductive or implicit central assertions (see Chapters 6 and 8). Notice that you can determine the thesis in this case by using the tip in your textbook to turn the essay title into a question and to read for an answer. Ask yourself what is the significant point about an anorexic's recovery. The significant thing, according to Rutherford's memoir, is that real healing requires the subject's will to heal herself or himself. The summary writer places this assertion at the opening of the summary, but otherwise follows the author's order of points, selecting just those that relate to the thesis. At the end of the summary, the writer quotes five telling words that reinforce the thesis. Because other words have not been quoted, these five gain extra weight. Note the use of third person, present tense, and impartial language. No evaluation of the essay occurs.

No Two Summaries Are Exactly Alike

We now give two somewhat different summaries of "The Rhetorical Stance." These were written by two different readers who did not compare notes or confer with each other in any way regarding interpretation. The two versions may help to illustrate the range of difference that is bound to occur between any two summaries of the same essay, as well as the essential congruence that should occur for successful summarization. Read our following commentary for a critique of these summaries as well as more information on how they were constructed.

Using Corpus Methods to Triangulate Linguistic Analysis Jesse Egbert, Paul Baker, 2019-09-17 This book builds on Baker and Egbert's previous work on triangulating methodological approaches in corpus linguistics and takes triangulation one step further to highlight its broader applicability when implemented with other linguistic research methods. The volume showcases research methods from other linguistic disciplines and draws on ten empirical studies from a range of topics in psycholinguistics, applied linguistics, and discourse analysis to demonstrate how these methods might be most effectively triangulated with corpus linguistic methods. A concluding chapter synthesizes these findings as a means of pointing the way toward future directions for triangulation and its implications for future linguistic research. The combined effect reveals the potential for the triangulation of these methods to not only enhance rigor in empirical linguistic research but also our understanding of linguistic phenomena and variation by studying them from multiple perspectives, making this book essential reading for graduate students and researchers in corpus linguistics, applied linguistics, psycholinguistics, and discourse analysis.

Analytical Essays on Music by Women Composers: Secular & Sacred Music to 1900 Laurel Parsons, Brenda Ravenscroft, 2018-09-04 Through musical analysis of compositions written between the mid twelfth to late nineteenth centuries, this volume celebrates the achievements of eight composers, all women: Hildegard of Bingen, Maddalena Casulana, Barbara Strozzi, Elisabeth Jacquet de la Guerre, Marianne Martines, Josephine Lang, Fanny Hensel, Clara Schumann, and Amy Beach. Written by outstanding music theorists and musicologists, the essays provide fascinating, in-depth, critical, analytical explorations of representative compositions, often linking analytical observations with questions of meaning and sociohistorical context. Each essay is introduced by a brief biographical sketch of the composer by the editors. The collection, Volume 1 in an unprecedented four-volume series of analytical studies on music by women composers, is designed to challenge and stimulate a wide range of readers. For academics, these thoughtful analytical essays can open new paths into unexplored research areas in the fields of music theory and musicology. Post-secondary instructors may be inspired by the insights offered in these essays to include new works in music theory and history courses at both graduate and upper-level undergraduate levels or in courses on women and music. Finally, for soloists, ensembles, conductors, and music broadcasters, these detailed analyses can offer enriched understandings of this repertoire and suggest fresh new programming possibilities to share with listeners.

Approaches to the Anglo and American Female Epic, 1621-1982 Bernard Schweizer, 2006 Epic has long been regarded as the exclusive domain of the male literary genius and as an incarnation of patriarchal values. This text challenges such a hegemonic stereotype by demonstrating the ways in which women writers have successfully adapted the masculine epic tradition to suit their own needs.

Transiciones Todd Ruecker, 2015-02-15 Transiciones is a thorough ethnography of seven Latino students in transition between high school and community college or university Data gathered over two years of interviews with the students their high school English teachers and their writing teachers and administrators at postsecondary institutions reveal a rich picture of the conflicted experience of these students as they attempted to balance the demands of schooling with a variety of personal responsibilities Todd Ruecker explores the disconnect between students writing experiences in high school and higher education and examines the integral role that writing plays in college Considering the almost universal requirement that students take a writing class in their critical first year of college he contends that it is essential for composition researchers and teachers to gain a fuller understanding of the role they play in supporting and hindering Latina and Latino students transition to college Arguing for situating writing programs in larger discussions of high school college alignment student engagement and retention Transiciones raises the profile of what writing programs can do while calling composition teachers administrators and scholars to engage in more collaboration across the institution across institutions and across disciplines to make the transition from high school to college writing more successful for this important group of students ideals of the past to resist the rising individualism of capitalism This study places literary works at the center of eighteenth century debates about how to harmonize exchanges of feeling and exchanges of finance highlighting representations of communitarian affective profit making in georgic poetry as well as in the work of Joseph Addison Daniel Defoe Richard Steele Sarah Fielding Henry Fielding David Hume Samuel Johnson and Laurence Sterne among others Investigating commercial treatises novels poetry periodicals and philosophy Genovese argues that authors conjured alternatives to private accumulation that might counter the isolating tendencies of impersonal exchange However even as emotional language and economic language arose together in the 1700s the attendant aspiration to form a communitarian economy in Britain was not fulfilled By recovering an approach to moneymaking that failed to thrive The Problem of Profit argues for the relevance of an unfamiliar narrative of capitalistic thought to today's anxiety over the discord between personal ambition and public good

Beyond Autonomy in Eighteenth-Century British and German Aesthetics Karl Axelsson, Camilla Flodin, Mattias Pirholt, 2020-10-25 This volume re-examines traditional interpretations of the rise of modern aesthetics in eighteenth century Britain and Germany It provides a new account that connects aesthetic experience with morality science and political society In doing so it challenges long-standing teleological narratives that emphasize disinterestedness and the separation of aesthetics from moral cognitive and political interests The chapters are divided into three thematic parts The chapters in Part I demonstrate the heteronomy of eighteenth century British aesthetics They chart the evolution of aesthetic concepts and discuss the ethical and political significance of the aesthetic theories of several key figures namely the third Earl of Shaftesbury David Hume and Adam Smith Part II explores the ways in which eighteenth century German and German oriented thinkers examine aesthetic experience and moral concerns and relate to the work of their British counterparts The chapters here cover the work of Kant Moses Mendelssohn Alexander Gottlieb Baumgarten and Madame de Staël Finally Part III explores the interrelation of science aesthetics and a new model of society in the work of Goethe Johann Wilhelm Ritter Friedrich Hölderlin and William Hazlitt among others This volume develops unique discussions of the rise of aesthetic autonomy in the eighteenth century In bringing together well-known scholars working on British and German eighteenth century aesthetics philosophy and literature it will appeal to scholars and advanced students in a range of disciplines who are interested in this topic The Introduction and Chapters 2 10 and 12 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial No Derivatives CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license
