Marketing Issues in Transitional Economies Rajeev Batra, 2012-12-06 As the markets in transitional economies open and grow major challenges and opportunities arise for multinational firms entering these markets local firms facing these new competitors and policymakers seeking to increase the ability of all firms to compete fairly and efficiently Yet despite the important questions transition economies pose for policymakers and companies seeking to enter and compete in these new markets there has been a relative absence of systematic research on these concerns This book seeks to fill a gap in the existing literature by offering a pioneering and comprehensive examination of issues that have developed as markets in transitional economies become more deregulated and open The countries discussed include China the Czech Republic Hungary India Poland Romania Russia South Africa and South Korea The topics covered are divided into five main sections and the individual chapters are written by some of the world's leading academic experts on these issues Most of the authors draw from freshly collected data in new studies of consumers and or firms in transitional economies After an opening section which discusses the marketing issues and challenges multinational and local firms face in transitional economies the next three sections offer detailed treatments of changing consumer behavior measuring and improving the marketing orientation of firms and implementing and managing distribution channels The fifth and final section is devoted to firm strategies and tactics examined variously from the perspective of multinational firms entering these new markets from the viewpoint of existing local firms facing new competitive challenges from global entrants and from the perspective of local firms seeking to establish themselves in foreign markets where they have not previously competed Most of the individual chapters are revised versions of papers originally presented at a conference sponsored by the William Davidson Institute which focuses on research related to emerging and transitional economies and have not previously appeared in published form Thus the book is a unique collection of cutting edge scholarship on the various aspects of marketing in transitional economies It will prove valuable reading to academics policymakers and international business strategists Electronic Business: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications Lee, In,2008-12-31 Enhances libraries worldwide through top research

Labour in Globalising Asian Corporations, 2006 Strategic Coupling Henry Wai-chung Yeung, 2016-04-22 In Strategic Coupling Henry Wai chung Yeung examines economic development and state firm relations in East Asia focusing in particular on South Korea Taiwan and Singapore As a result of the massive changes of the last twenty five years new explanations must be found for the economic success and industrial transformation in the region State assisted startups and incubator firms in East Asia have become major players in the manufacture of products with a global reach Taiwan s Hon Hai Precision has assembled more than 500 million iPhones for instance and South Korea s Samsung provides the iPhone s semiconductor chips and retina displays Drawing on extensive interviews with top executives and senior government officials Yeung argues that since the late 1980s many East Asian firms have outgrown their home states and are no longer dependent on state support as a result the developmental state has lost much of its capacity to steer and direct industrialization We cannot read the performance of national firms as a direct outcome of state action Yeung calls for a thorough renovation of the still dominant view that states are the primary engine of industrial transformation He stresses action by national firms and traces various global production networks to incorporate both firm specific activities and the international political economy He identifies two sets of dynamics in these national global articulations known as strategic coupling coevolution in the confluence of state firm and global production networks and the various strategies pursued by East Asian firms to attain competitive positions in the global marketplace
