

The Actual UC Essay Prompts

- #1: Describe an example of your leadership experience in which you have positively influenced others, helped resolve disputes, or contributed to group efforts over time.
- #2: Every person has a creative side, and it can be expressed in many ways: problem solving, original and innovative thinking, and artistically, to name a few. Describe how you express your creative side.
- #3: What would you say is your greatest talent or skill? How have you developed and demonstrated that talent over time?
- #4: Describe how you have taken advantage of a significant educational opportunity or worked to overcome an educational barrier you have faced.
- #5: Describe the most significant challenge you have faced and the steps you have taken to overcome this challenge. How has this challenge affected your academic achievement?
- #6: Think about an academic subject that inspires you. Describe how you have furthered this interest inside and/or outside of the classroom.
- #7: What have you done to make your school or your community a better place?
- #8: Beyond what has already been shared in your application, what do you believe makes you stand out as a strong candidate for admissions to the University of California?

How to Tell the UC Essay Prompts Apart

To help tell the UC personal statement prompts apart, sort them into big-picture categories, so when you're brainstorming ideas you can see where your event or life experience would fit.

- Topics 1 and 7 are about your engagement with the people, things, and ideas around you. Consider the impact of the outside world on you and how you handled that impact.
- Topics 2 and 6 are about your inner self, what defines you, and what makes you the person that you are. Consider your interior makeup, the characteristics of the inner you.
- Topics 3, 4, 5, and 8 are about your achievements. Consider what you've accomplished in life and what you are proud of doing.

These very broad categories will help when you're brainstorming ideas and life experiences to write about for your essay. Of course, it's true that many of the stories you think of can be shaped to fit each of these prompts. Still, think about what the experience most reveals about you.

If it's an experience that shows how you have handled the people and places around you, it'll work better for questions in the first group. If it's a description of how you express yourself, it's a good match for questions in group two. If it's an experience that tells how you acted or what you did, it's probably a better fit for questions in group three.

Education at War Arshad Imtiaz Ali, 2018-04-10 Education at War The Fight for Students of Color in America s Public Schools attempts to shape educational research and practice to more explicitly consider the relationship between education capitalism and war and more specifically its impact on students of color The authors as a whole contend that the contemporary specter of war has become a central way that racism and materialism become manifested and practiced within education In particular this collection asserts that the contemporary neoliberal characterization of education and school based reform is situated within the global political economy that has facilitated a growth in the prison and military industrial complex and simultaneous divestment in education domestically within the U S Education at War attempts to make research relevant by bringing the tensions within young people s lives to the fore The heavy shadow cast by recent U S led wars re organizes the sites of learning and teaching nationally as well as differentially within specific sites and upon particular communities Nonetheless the examination of this context is not enough Rather we consider how such a contemporary context can facilitate educational spaces for communities and youth to grow their vision for a different and hopefully a more humanizing future Thus the book contributors will collectively explore how resistance can produce the opportunity for rich diverse and transformative learning for marginalized students and communities The lives of People of Color are the forefront of Education at War The Fight for Students of Color in America s Public Schools Whereas there are many attempts to theorize about the global implications of war less attention is paid to the ways that war shapes young lives in the U S particularly in an educational context The book addresses the absence of youth centered discussions regarding education during a political context of neoliberalism and war and provides important perspectives on which to ground critical discussions among students and families education scholars and practitioners and policymakers

Austerity Blues Michael Fabricant, Stephen Brier, 2016-11-01 A generation of budget cutting has eviscerated the very idea of public higher education in America Public higher education in the postwar era was a key economic and social driver in American life making college available to millions of working men and women Since the 1980s however government austerity policies and politics have severely reduced public investment in higher education exacerbating inequality among poor and working class students of color as well as part time faculty In Austerity Blues Michael Fabricant and Stephen Brier examine these devastating fiscal retrenchments nationally focusing closely on New York and California both of which were leaders in the historic expansion of public higher education in the postwar years and now are at the forefront of austerity measures Fabricant and Brier describe the extraordinary growth of public higher education after 1945 thanks largely to state investment the alternative intellectual and political traditions that defined the 1960s and the social and economic forces that produced austerity policies and inequality beginning in the late 1970s and 1980s A provocative indictment of the negative impact neoliberal policies have visited on the public university especially the growth of class racial and gender inequalities Austerity Blues also analyzes the many changes currently sweeping public higher education including the growing use of educational technology online learning and privatization while exploring how these developments hurt students and teachers In its final section the book offers examples of oppositional and emancipatory struggles and practices that can help reimagine public higher education in the future The ways in which factors as diverse as online learning privatization and disinvestment cohere into a single powerful force driving deepening inequality is the central theme of the book Incorporating the differing perspectives of students faculty members and administrators the book reveals how public education has been redefined as a private benefit often outsourced to for profit vendors who sell education back to indebted undergraduates Over the past twenty years tuition and related student debt have climbed precipitously and degree completion rates have dropped Not only has this new austerity threatened public universities ability to educate students Fabricant and Brier argue but it also threatens to undermine the very meaning and purpose of public higher education in offering poor and working class students access to a quality education in a democracy Synthesizing historical sources social science research and contemporary reportage Austerity Blues will be of interest to readers concerned about rising inequality and the decline of public higher education

The Minoan Epiphany - A Bronze Age Visionary Culture Bruce

Rimell,2021-01-02 The art and iconography of the Minoan civilisation of Bronze Age Crete is rightly described as having a refreshing vitality with a fortunate combination of stylisation and spontaneity in which the artist is able to transform conventional imagery into a personal expression The dynamism torsion and naturalism evident in Minoan art stands in stark contrast to the hieratic rigidity of other ancient civilisations and nowhere is this more apparent than in the iconography of the Minoan Epiphany a set of mainly glyptic rings seals and seal impression images which appear to depict religious celebrants experiencing direct and seemingly ecstatic encounters with deities This collection of essays explores this central aspect of Minoan religion taking a strongly archaeological focus to allow the artefacts to speak for themselves and moving from traditional representational interpretations into embodied perspectives in which the ecstatic capabilities of the human body throw new light on Aegean Bronze Age ritual practices Such ideas challenge rather passive assumptions modern Western observers hold about the nature of religious feelings and experiences in particular the depictions of altered states of consciousness in ancient art and the visionary potential of dance gestures Speculative asides on the potential for a Minoan origin for Classical Greek humanism and hints in the imagery on ancient Cretan conceptions of the cosmos are set against sound archaeological theories to explain this lively and dynamic corpus of images Beautifully illustrated with images and sketches of the relevant artefacts this wide ranging volume will stimulate audiences with archaeological prehistorical and spiritual interests as well as historians of religion and art The Minoan Epiphany also represents an influential antecedent to the Visionary Humanist philosophy which forms the majority of Bruce s current independent research interests
