Florence Kuteesa

Uganda Government Civil Service Standing Orders:

Uganda Jayati Datta Mitra, 2001-01-01 This Country Assistance Evaluation on Uganda departs from the customary sector approach and assesses the International Development Association's IDA assistance thematically. It looks at Uganda's development since 1986, services and products, the development impact of IDA's assistance, and performance by borrower donors and IDA. Constitutional Law and Government in Uganda George W. Kanyeihamba, 1975 Uganda Great Britain. Colonial Office, 1946 International Handbook on Civil Service Systems A. Massey, 2011-01-01 This Handbook on civil service systems is truly international and comparative. It covers and compares countries from all continents. It also connects historical Weberian legacies to contemporary challenges such as coordination, the hollow state, and trust. Massey's Handbook does not avoid difficult issues for civil service systems such as ruined reforms, fiscal retrenchment, and cultural and political system shocks. Therefore, this book is exceptionally rich and stimulating. Geert Bouckaert Katholieke Universiteit Leuven Belgium. While there is no universally accepted definition of civil servant and civil service, this authoritative and informative Handbook compares and contrasts various approaches to organising the structure and activities of different civil service systems. Underpinning theories and frameworks provide a disciplinary perspective from which to explore recurring topics and themes, and international comparisons are made via case studies from Africa, Asia, Australasia, Europe, and North and South America. The expert contributors consider the historical and theoretical context of public administration and public sector management, encompassing issues such as the Weberian legacy, joined-up government, and the hollowed-out state thesis. The debate between Anglo-American influenced systems versus the continental European approach to organising the civil service is also addressed. Proceedings of the National Assembly, Official Report Uganda. National Assembly, 1962 Civil Service Reform in Francophone Africa Ladipo Adamolekun, Guy de Lusignan, Armand Atomate, 1997-01-01 The world's financial markets are rapidly integrating into a single global marketplace, and developing countries are being drawn into this process, starting from different points and moving at various speeds. Those with adequate institutions and sound policies in place may proceed smoothly along the road toward financial integration and gain the many benefits that integration can bring. Most of the developing economies lack many of the necessary prerequisites for such a move; a few are so unprepared that integration may do them more harm than good. Developing countries may have little choice about whether to follow this path; advances in communications and new developments in finance have made the course inevitable, but they may still choose the ways in which they proceed, choosing the policies that benefit the economy and averting potential shocks. This World Bank report looks at the important challenges both sets of countries face in a new age of global capital. The book presents new and compelling evidence that while low interest rates in industrial countries provided an initial impetus to the surge in private capital flows during 1989-93, these flows have entered a new phase driven by increased financial integration. The report analyzes the causes and effects of integration with a particular emphasis on how developing countries in the nascent stages of integration can learn from the experiences of the more rapidly integrating developing countries
