Patents and Industry Standards Jae Hun Park, 2010-01-01 Dr Jae Park is to be congratulated for turning our attention to this difficult and underexplored area His work focuses on standards and patents but goes well beyond an initial first analysis He examines the finer points of both sets of rules in order to find out exactly where the problem lies and he then looks at the existing mechanisms that could provide a solution Many of these have their roots in the area of competition law but his thorough analysis shows that competition law in its current form and with its current limitations is not the perfect tool to address the problems that arise when patented technology becomes the object of standardisation This leads Dr Park to develop his own solution for the problem at hand a solution which he finds in the dynamic liability rules regime This book really breaks new ground and provides a first and thorough analysis of this rarely addressed but increasingly important area From the foreword by Paul L C Torremans University of Nottingham UK This insightful book reviews the inherent conflict between patent rights and industry standards and through analysis of both US and European case law proposes measures to improve current systems and foster greater innovation Jae Hun Park searches for the appropriate balance between the rights of patent owners and the need for industry standards within the scope of patent law He considers the current solutions provided by legal systems and using cost benefit analysis evaluates from a legal and economic perspective whether patent systems can be improved Jae Hun Park proposes reform to the patent system that would introduce a dynamic liability rule regime rather than property rules The dynamic liability rule regime adopts property rules at the stage when there are still competing standards and liability rules at the stage when there are no competing standards This would he argues resolve the conflict between patents and standards and mitigate the patent hold up problem This is a must read book for scholars interested in technology patents innovation and competition law and policy as well as those individuals working in standard setting organisations It will also be of great interest to patent offices patent attorneys and competition lawyers Know it All, Find it Fast for

Television Barrie Gunter, Jackie Harrison, Maggie Wykes, 2003-01-30 Concern about violence on television has been publicly debated for the past 50 years TV violence has repeatedly been identified as a significant causal agent in relation to the prevalence of crime and violence in society Critics have accused the medium of presenting excessive quantities of violence to the point where it is virtually impossible for viewers to avoid it This book presents the findings of the largest British study of violence on TV ever undertaken funded by the broadcasting industry The study was carried out at the same time as similar industry sponsored research was being conducted in the United States and one chapter compares findings from Britain and the U S A The book concludes that it is misleading to accuse all broadcasters of presenting excessive quantities of violence in their schedules This does not deny that problematic portrayals were found But the most gory horrific and graphic scenes of violence were generally contained within broadcasts available on a subscription basis or in programs shown at times when few children were expected to be watching This factual analysis proves that broadcasters were meeting their obligations under their national regulatory codes of practice e-Pedia: Game of Thrones (season 6) Wikipedia
