Private enterprises in advanced economies have been learning to use information and communication technology ICT to innovate and transform their processes products services and business models significantly improving productivity and competitiveness Moreover the ICT industry itself has become a major source of job creation and a contributor to economic growth and business transformation A key question today is whether and how developing countries can learn to benefit from the ICT revolution and what roles the government and private sector can play Already a number of developing countries have been inspired by the example of India and China and are now seeking to jump on the outsourcing bandwagon Nevertheless with few exceptions in the developing world little attention has been paid by policymakers and practitioners to invest systematically and proactively in ICT enabled growth poverty reduction and grassroots innovation Most communities and small and medium sized enterprises in developing countries for example face multiple constraints to adopting and leveraging this general purpose technology and lack the capabilities for maximizing its potential In Enabling Enterprise Transformation Nagy Hanna draws on his rich experience of over 35 years at the World Bank and other aid agencies as a development strategist and ICT policy expert the most current research and best practices from around the world to provide practical tools for promoting economic and social transformation through ICT He assesses various initiatives to develop and diffuse ICT such as innovation funds incubators parks public private partnerships and comprehensive promotion programs He argues for the strategic options now open for developing countries to participate in ICT production to deploy ICT to transform industries and services and to leverage ICT as a new national infrastructure for improving the business environment and enhancing the competitiveness of the whole economy The challenge for leaders in developing countries is to create such social and institutional dynamics for learning about ICT use and adaptation at many levels Lessons gained so far from programs to build these social learning and innovation capabilities at the institutional and grassroots levels should be shared among developing countries and a dialogue among business leaders policymakers development agencies educational institutions and the general citizenry must be advanced Tanzania World Bank,2009-01-01 The World Bank is in the initial stages of developing a new annual series of World Bank Country Briefs Tanzania the second report in the series will be published in the winter of 2009 These short country specific reports examine the economic social environmental and business landscape of developing countries focusing on issues critical to development Overview People and Poverty Environment Economy Governance and Business Environment Global Links Statistical Appendix Population Dynamics in Muslim Countries Hans Groth,Alfonso Sousa-Poza,2012-03-28 The book discusses the demographic changes in Muslim countries It thereby focuses on topics such as the demographic dividend and the demographic transition labour market challenges health care universal education and gender issues These challenges are addressed at a country level and include policy implications for the large majority of the Muslim countries covered in this book Moreover political consequences for Europe with respect to the integration of Muslims are presented to the reader Rwanda Fast Forward Patrick Noack,2012-07-31 The authors explore the outlook of Rwanda in the context of development of East Africa and Sub Saharan Africa They examine Rwanda s vision achievements and uncertainties in terms of national unity institutional leadership the spectre of industrial policy and economic development perceptions of civil society engagement etc Migration, Citizenship and Intercultural Relations Michele Lobo,2016-04-22 Migration Citizenship and Intercultural Relations reflects on the tensions and contradictions that arise within debates on social inclusion arguing that both the concept of social inclusion and policy surrounding it need to incorporate visions of citizenship that value ethnic diversity Presenting the latest empirical research from Australia and engaging with contemporary global debates on questions of identity citizenship intercultural relations and social inclusion this book unsettles fixed assumptions about who is included as a valued citizen and explores the possibilities for engendering inclusive visions of citizenship in local national and transnational spaces Organised around the themes of identity citizenship and intercultural relations this interdisciplinary collection sheds light on the role that ethnic diversity can play in fostering new visions of inclusivity and citizenship in a globalised world Development Policy in Africa G.
