The Amarna Letters Jacob Lauinger,Tyler Yoder,2025-02-28 During Egypt s Eighteenth Dynasty ca 1550 1292 BCE the New Kingdom pharaohs campaigned repeatedly in Syria and the Levant establishing political control over much of the region As a result of these conquests the rulers of Levantine city states sent letters written in Akkadian in the cuneiform script on clay tablets to the Egyptian pharaohs So too did the kings of the other great geopolitical powers of the time Assyria Babylonia Hatti and Mittani maintain an active diplomatic correspondence with Egypt's pharaohs Beginning in the nineteenth century CE local farmers and later archaeologists working at Akhetaten modern Tell el Amarna the one time Egyptian capital discovered remnants of this correspondence mostly dating to the reigns of Amenhotep III ca 1388 1350 BCE and his son and successor Akhenaten ca 1350 1333 BCE with some dating to Tutankhamun ca 1333 1323 This is a period of increasing friction as the great powers sought to extend their borders The Amarna Letters thus illuminate a pivotal point in Egypt's foreign relations during the Late Bronze Age Even though they provide us with a narrow window of only about thirty years time 1358 1325 BCE they are an important witness to the general nature of Egypt's diplomatic relations during the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Dynasties This new digitally borne edition of the Amarna Letters offers the first complete collection of the letters with responsible transliterations that have been checked against available photographs and hand copies clear and consistent translations and an up to date and extensive bibliography As such it is and will remain an essential resource
