Sap Guide For Beginners Error Study:

Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports, 1986 Problem solving activities in post-editing and translation from scratch Jean Nitzke, 2019 Companies and organisations are increasingly using machine translation to improve efficiency and cost effectiveness and then edit the machine translated output to create a fluent text that adheres to given text conventions This procedure is known as post editing Translation and post editing can often be categorised as problem solving activities When the translation of a source text unit is not immediately obvious to the translator or in other words if there is a hurdle between the source item and the target item the translation process can be considered problematic Conversely if there is no hurdle between the source and target texts the translation process can be considered a task solving activity and not a problem solving activity This study investigates whether machine translated output influences problem solving effort in internet research syntax and other problem indicators and whether the effort can be linked to expertise A total of 24 translators twelve professionals and twelve semi professionals produced translations from scratch from English into German and monolingually post edited machine translation output for this study The study is part of the CRITT TPR DB database The translation and monolingual post editing sessions were recorded with an eye tracker and a keylogging program The participants were all given the same six texts two texts per task Different approaches were used to identify problematic translation units First internet research behaviour was considered as research is a distinct indicator of problematic translation units Then the focus was placed on syntactical structures in the MT output that do not adhere to the rules of the target language as I assumed that they would cause problems in the monolingual post editing tasks that would not occur in the translation from scratch task Finally problem indicators were identified via different parameters like Munit which indicates how often the participants created and modified one translation unit or the inefficiency InEff value of translation units i.e. the number of produced and deleted tokens divided by the final length of the translation Finally the study highlights how these parameters can be used to identify problems in the translation process data using mere keylogging data

Innovation Through Information Systems Frederik Ahlemann, Reinhard Schütte, Stefan Stieglitz, 2021-10-15 This book presents the current state of research in information systems and digital transformation Due to the global trend of digitalization and the impact of the Covid 19 pandemic the need for innovative high quality research on information systems is higher than ever In this context the book covers a wide range of topics such as digital innovation business analytics artificial intelligence and IT strategy which affect companies individuals and societies This volume gathers the revised and peer reviewed papers on the topic Technology presented at the International Conference on Information Systems held at the University of Duisburg Essen in 2021 Process-Driven Applications with BPMN Volker Stiehl, 2014-09-17 How can we optimize differentiating business processes and exploit their full potential Here Volker Stiehl provides answers utilizing the various options that the BPMN Business Process Model and Notation standard offers for planning implementing and monitoring processes The book presents an approach for implementing an architecture for applications that strives to find a balance between development and maintenance costs sustainability scalability and fault tolerance that meets flexibility requirements without becoming inordinately complex itself and that keeps the end application as abstract as possible from the system landscape in which it operates Based on the semantic enhancements found in version 2.0 of the BPMN standard which have made it possible to execute process models his approach exploits BPMN to create and run complete application architectures In this context BPMN is not just used to model the business processes of the application as the B in BPMN might suggest but also to model and execute the integration processes between the systems Throughout the book the software package SAP Process Orchestration is used to illustrate the implementation of the proposed architecture yet all recommendations are intentionally kept generic so that they can be implemented on any other comparable platform as well Software architects IT managers software developers and project managers as well as students of information and business technology will find the book a valuable resource The proposed application architecture offers them a detailed blueprint the principles of which they can use to plan and implement process driven distributed applications
