Why are tax systems so complex and what are the causes and consequences of such complexity The simplification of tax systems is one of the most important issues faced today in worldwide efforts to modernise and strengthen government finance and revenue raising capacities Nowhere is it more important than throughout the rapidly emerging economies of the dynamic African region This volume brings together contributions in this field from a conference held in South Africa in October 2018 and provides a unique synthesis of knowledge and understanding gained from the specialist expertise and diverse backgrounds brought to the tax simplification debate by those authors Featured topics include Taxpayers rights to simplicity The African experience of tax simplification Simplification trends among small and medium sized entities Pension tax simplification Sources of complexity in value added taxation Simplification of recurrent property taxes Complexity and approaches to international taxation Complexity and taxation of multinational enterprises Lessons from overseas The analysis of these topics includes timely and relevant perspectives from the experience in other jurisdictions including Australia Canada New Zealand the United Kingdom and the United States The volume will be an essential reference for researchers

Modernizing VATs in Africa Sijbren Cnossen, 2019-07-12 Most African countries are in dire need of more tax revenue In 28 out of 45 countries with a value added tax VAT total tax revenue as a percentage of GDP is around 15% or less falling short of what is necessary to finance basic human and economic development Far from being revenue raising instruments current African VATs are riddled with exemptions exclusions and zero rates on domestic goods and services that depress revenue are highly distortionary and greatly complicate the administration of VAT Modernizing VATs in Africa enables policymakers professionals and students to analyse African tax systems to ascertain how they can be modernized It explains the case for VAT base broadening over rate increasing arguing that exemptions and zero rates mainly accrue benefits for higher income groups Even more persuasively it demonstrates that the net result of fiscal systems can be equalizing if the revenue of broad based VATs is used to finance in kind transfers such as healthcare and education VAT modernization should be used to enable governments to finance development Modernizing VATs in Africa puts a compelling case forward for how and why this can be achieved

BRICS and International Tax Law Peter Antony Wilson, 2016-04-24 With the ongoing expansion of outbound foreign direct investment FDI in the countries representing the BRICS economic bloc Brazil Russia India China and South Africa and with all of them at the same time listed among the top seven countries plagued by tax evasion and avoidance in the guise of illicit outflows the respective governments both individually and through cooperative initiatives have devised new international tax strategies that are proving to be of great interest and value to other countries both developing and developed The core of these strategies addresses the necessity of stemming the outflow of revenue while strongly supporting FDI both inbound and outbound while complying with international obligations including those arising from human rights laws This book is the first in depth commentary on this new and evolving area of international tax law The detailed analysis covers the entire field of BRICS international tax law considering topics such as the following information exchange procedures and pitfalls response to the OECD's Base Erosion and Profit Sharing BEPS initiative role of bilateral and multilateral double taxation conventions including the Multilateral Instrument and the Bilateral Investment Treaties thin capitalization transfer pricing controlled foreign corporation rules shortcomings related to authorities limited manpower international audit and investigation procedures the BRICS approach to residence and mandatory and binding arbitration and the BRICS approach to shaping the developing world's international tax system Notably the author personally conducted interviews with senior international representatives of the BRICS tax authorities as well as with leading BRICS academics and practitioners Tax cases together with human rights and investment cases and administrative guidelines in all five countries are also included in the analysis The study concludes with recommendations for improving each of the five countries tax law and procedures especially in the area of dispute resolution The author's goal is to extend the existing body of knowledge of the BRICS international tax laws in order to assist in developing an understanding of the BRICS approach to dealing with evasion and avoidance an approach which facilitates both outbound and inbound FDI simplifies tax authority administration and establishes a basis for resolving international disputes which is compatible with sovereignty In achieving this objective the author has produced a major work that is of immeasurable value to tax advisers government and governance officials academics and researchers both in developing international taxation strategies and in helping to resolve disputes with tax authorities
