Sören Scholvin,2016-03-03 Global energy consumption will increase rapidly in the next decades The discrepancy between demand and supply is worrisome within the old and new cores of the world economy Sub Saharan Africa meanwhile possesses vast potential for energy resources to be further exploited Whilst the Global North is a traditional player in the sub Saharan energy sector new actors from emerging economies especially China s state owned enterprises but also Brazilian Indian and South African giants have entered what appears to be a scramble for the largely untapped energy resources of the region This book is the first to bring together comparative perspectives on The strategies of state and non state actors involved in the exploitation of sub Saharan energy resources The potential and pitfalls of new forms of cooperation on energy southwards of the Sahara The domestic opportunities and challenges of the present energy resource boom Dynamics on the international level are brought together with local developments to provide up to date insights on the scramble for energy resources in sub Saharan Africa This book also advances a materialist approach applicable in geographical and political scientific research showing that much insight can be gained by concentrating on the material environment that shapes economic and political phenomena      Embedding

Sprague,2008 This book is about enhancing the contribution of business to sustainable development in sub Saharan Africa with an emphasis on both challenges and opportunities Sub Saharan Africa is the only region in the world where the proportion of extremely poor people increased during the final decades of the previous century The overarching imperative to support Africa s poor in their quest for better livelihoods human rights and environmental integrity is a huge challenge and the business community has an important role to play The purpose of this book is to contribute to a better understanding of this role and its implications for decision makers in business as well as to some extent government and civil society Publisher s description A Question of Survival Hermann Giliomee,1987 Coal-to-Liquids (CtL): Driving Forces and

Barriers - Synergies and Conflicts from an Energy and Climate Policy Perspective Daniel Vallentin,2012-07-24 Several countries with large coal deposits but limited domestic oil reserves show high interest in coal to liquid CtL technologies which could reduce crude oil imports by converting coal into liquid hydrocarbon fuels After decades of successful large scale operating experiences in South Africa CtL activities in the United States China and Germany have been fanned by the high oil price in the last years However CtL indicates negative techno economic and resource related features such as high capital costs high greenhouse gas discharges and high water consumption Therefore the technology s diffusion strongly depends on a favourable framework of policies and strong technology advocates Daniel Vallentin analyses interdependencies between technical and non technical parameters affecting the diffusion of CtL technologies in the United States China and Germany Applying the inter disciplinary technological system approach he identifies factors which determine the market prospects of CtL in these countries including costs the geographic distribution of coal reserves actor constellations and technology energy and climate policies At the end of his study he derives general conclusions with regard to driving forces and barriers for CtL diffusion As the investigated countries are major consumers of energy and belong to the world s largest emitters of greenhouse gases their strategies in substituting crude oil based fuels are of utmost global relevance Therefore Vallentin s study is recommended to experts planners decision makers and politicians in the field of climate and resource protection Finance Week ,2003 Contesting Transformation Marcelle C. Dawson,Luke Sinwell,2014-04-10 Contesting Transformation is a sober and critical reflection on the wave of social movement struggles which have taken place in post Apartheid South Africa Moving beyond a social movement scholarship that has tended to romanticise emergent movements this collection takes stock of the contradiction and complexity that is necessarily entangled in all forms of popular resistance Through an exploration of labour strikes legal organisations community protest and local government elections the contributors consider how different movements conceive of transformation and assess the extent to which these understandings challenge the narrative of the ruling African National Congress ANC An empirically grounded analysis from a coterie of leading researchers and analysts Contesting Transformation is the definitive critical survey of the state of popular struggle in South Africa today Truth to Power André de Ruyter,2023-05-15 When Andr de Ruyter took over as Eskom CEO in January 2020 he quickly realised why it was considered the toughest job in South Africa. Aside from neglected equipment, ageing power stations and an eroded skills base, he discovered that Eskom was crippled by corruption on a staggering scale. Fake fuel oil deliveries at just one power station cost Eskom R100 million per month. Kneepads retailing for R150 a pair were purchased for R80 000. Billions of rands of equipment supposedly housed in the company's storerooms was missing. Faced with police inaction, he was compelled to plunge into a world that was foreign to him: a world of spies and safe houses, of bulletproof vests and bodyguards. In Truth to Power, De Ruyter tells the behind-the-scenes story of how he launched a private investigation that exposed at least four criminal cartels feeding off Eskom. While fighting this scourge, he had to deal with political interference, absurd regulations, non-paying municipalities, unfounded accusations of racism, wildcat strikes, sabotage and a poisoning attempt. De Ruyter takes the reader inside the boardrooms and government meetings where South Africa's future is shaped, with ministers often pulling in conflicting directions. He explains how renewable energy is the cheapest and quickest solution to our power crisis in spite of fierce opposition from vested coal interests. De Ruyter candidly reflects on his three years at the power utility, his successes and failures, his reasons for leaving and his hopes for the future. As someone who worked at the highest levels of the state but is not beholden to the ruling party, he is uniquely placed to speak truth to power.

Music and Identity Eric Ayisi Akrofi, Maria Smit, Stig-Magnus Thorsén, 2006-06-01

Due to significant political and social changes over the last decade in their countries and worldwide, many scholars in the Nordic nations and in Southern Africa have been researching on music and identity, an area with a paucity of literature. It is our hope that this book will be beneficial to scholars interested in the field of music and identity. This volume is the result of the Swedish South African Research Network (SSARN) project funded from 2004-2006 by the Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency (SIDA) and the National Research Foundation (NRF) of South Africa under the theme Music and Identity. SSARN was founded by Stig Magnus Thorsén of the University of Gothenburg, Sweden, in 2002 when he invited Nordic and Southern African scholars to participate in a research group focusing broadly on the topic Music and Identity. An Independent Man Eddie Jordan, 2011-02-24

The hugely entertaining and extremely candid autobiography of one of the most colourful characters in motor sport. Here's what readers say about AN INDEPENDENT MAN. An entertaining read for any sports fan and a must-read for all Formula 1 fans. It is the mixture of honesty, passion and humility that makes this such a good read Eddie Jordan gave Michael Schumacher his first drive and helped groom a whole series of drivers early in their careers including Damon Hill and Johnny Herbert But he funded his first move into motor sport by selling smoked salmon well past its sell by date to rugby fans leaving Lansdowne Road when stopped for speeding by a policeman he ended up selling him his car Jordan set up his own team and moved into Formula One at the end of the 1980s It wasn't long before the team began to pick up podium finishes and in 1998 won its first race a remarkable achievement on a comparatively small budget The following year was even better but sadly this was to be the peak as the search for more finance and legal battles with sponsors hit hard Eventually in January 2005 he sold the team AN INDEPENDENT MAN goes behind the scenes to reveal the true personalities of the drivers Jordan worked with and his battles with Bernie Ecclestone It shows how when so much money is involved nothing is ever simple His has been a life lived to the full and his account is packed full of superb stories colourful adventures and revealing tales
