Postsocialist Mobilities Hajnal Király, Zolt Győri, 2021-04-27 This volume examines the various forms of mobility in the cinema of the Visegrad countries and Romania bringing together the cross disciplinary research of mostly native scholars Divided into four thematic sections it expands the reader's understanding of the political transition and the social changes it triggered the transforming perceptions of gender roles and especially masculinity The spaces of in betweenness and contact zones whether geographical interethnic or communicative in mobility and transmedial encounters of Eastern European subjectivity are recurring figures of both cinematic representations and their theoretical analyses In depth and transcultural in their nature the investigations gathered in this volume are informed by political social and cultural history genre gender and spatial theory cultural studies sociology and political science and of equal importance the rich personal experience of the authors who witnessed many of the discussed phenomena in close up

Cinematic Encounters 2 Jonathan Rosenbaum, 2019-05-30 Eschewing the idea of film reviewer as solitary expert Jonathan Rosenbaum continues to advance his belief that a critic's ideal role is to mediate and facilitate our public discussion of cinema Portraits and Polemics presents debate as an important form of cinematic encounter whether one argues with filmmakers themselves on behalf of their work or with one's self Rosenbaum takes on filmmakers like Chantal Akerman Richard Linklater Manoel De Oliveira Mark Rappaport Elaine May and Béla Tarr He also engages implicitly and explicitly with other writers arguing with Pauline Kael and Wikipedia over Jacques Demy with the Hollywood Reporter and Variety reviewers of Jarmusch's The Limits of Control with David Thomson about James L Brooks and with many American and English film critics about misrepresented figures from Jerry Lewis to Yasujiro Ozu to Orson Welles Throughout Rosenbaum mines insights pursues pet notions and invites readers to join the fray

Exile Cinema Michael Atkinson, 2008-03-13 Outside the shrinking American film culture market there is a vast movie crazed world where madmen geniuses and apostates roam freely subject to a relatively minimal degree of corporate industry and spin control In Exile Cinema prominent film critics profile the oeuvres of working thriving international filmmakers from Béla Tarr to Judith Helfand from Kiyoshi Kurosawa and Guy Maddin to Chantal Akerman and Michele Soavi from Chris Marker to the newest thresholds of contemporary film These filmmakers battle the greatest odds a modern artist can face the opposition of mass culture at large and a medium that requires enormous expenditures in every stage of production and distribution Naturally the average American moviehead rarely gets a chance to see these marginalized directors work and often knows about them only through dazzled rumors and rhapsodic hearsay Whimsical and deeply subjective the viewpoints and evangelisms in Exile Cinema will serve as salve for the cineaste's lonesome fury

Cinematic Encounters Jonathan Rosenbaum, 2018-11-30 Godard Fuller Rivette Endfield Tarr In his celebrated career as a film critic Jonathan Rosenbaum has undertaken wide ranging dialogues with many of the most daring and important auteurs of our time Cinematic Encounters collects more than forty years of interviews that embrace Rosenbaum's vision of film criticism as a collaboration involving multiple voices. Rosenbaum accompanies Orson Welles on a journey back to Heart of Darkness, the unmade film meant to be Welles's Hollywood debut. Jacques Tati addresses the primacy of décor and soundtrack in his comedic masterpiece PlayTime, while Jim Jarmusch explains the influence of real and Hollywoodized Native Americans in Dead Man. By arranging the chapters chronologically, Rosenbaum invites readers to pursue thematic threads as if the discussions were dialogues between separate interviews. The result is a rare gathering of filmmakers trading thoughts on art and process on great works and false starts and on actors and intimate moments.

Slow Places in Béla Tarr's Films Clara Orban, 2021-09-08 Slow Places in Béla Tarr's Films explores Hungarian filmmaker Béla Tarr's approach to creating geographies of indifference through slow cinema techniques. Through a close examination of Tarr's filmography, Clara Orban observes that his interiors provide claustrophobic environments in which human relationships have difficulty flourishing while his exteriors become landscapes through which characters wander endlessly. Furthermore, Orban argues Tarr's sparse use of animals provides contrast to the humans who inhabit these spaces as they too are indifferent to human fates. Orban utilizes close readings of Tarr's films including his earlier short films along with relevant poems, a thorough filmography, and an interview with Tarr about aspects of this book to aid in her analysis. Ultimately, this book offers an accessible but detailed look at the geographic locations and ecological implications of the entire compendium of Tarr's productions.

Kill the Documentary Jill Godmilow, 2022-03-22 Can the documentary be useful? Can a film change how its viewers think about the world and their potential role in it? In Kill the Documentary, the award-winning director Jill Godmilow issues an urgent call for a new kind of nonfiction filmmaking. She critiques documentary films from Nanook of the North to the recent Ken Burns/Lynn Novick series The Vietnam War. Tethered to what Godmilow calls the pedigree of the real and the pornography of the real, they fail to activate their viewers' engagement with historical or present-day problems. Whether depicting the hardships of poverty or the horrors of war, conventional documentaries produce an us watching them mode that ultimately reinforces self-satisfaction and self-absorption. In place of the conventional documentary, Godmilow advocates for a postrealist cinema. Instead of offering the faux empathy and sentimental spectacle of mainstream documentaries, postrealist nonfiction films are acts of resistance. They are experimental, interventionist, performative, and transformative. Godmilow demonstrates how a film can produce meaningful, useful experience by forcefully challenging ways of knowing and how viewers come to understand the world. She considers her own career as a filmmaker as well as the formal and political strategies of artists such as Luis Buñuel, Georges Franju, Harun Farocki, Trinh T. Minh-ha, Rithy Panh, and other directors. Both manifesto and guidebook, Kill the Documentary proposes provocative new ways of making and watching films.

Pop Culture, Politics, and Social Transition Anna Szemere, 1998 The Hungarian Quarterly, 2000 Animal Perception and Literary Language Donald Wesling, 2018-12-26 Animal Perception and Literary Language shows that the perceptual content of reading and writing derives from our embodied minds Donald Wesling considers how humans evolved from animals have learned to code perception of movement into sentences and scenes The book first specifies terms and questions in animal philosophy and surveys recent work on perception then describes attributes of multispecies thinking and defines a tradition of writers in this lineage Finally the text concludes with literature coming into full focus in twelve case studies of varied readings Overall Wesling s book offers not a new method of literary criticism but a reveal of what we all do with perceptual content when we read

Powers of Reading Peter Szendy, 2025-03-11 A historical literary and philosophical study that transforms our understanding of reading Peter Szendy offers a subtle persuasive and unprecedented account of the time of reading and its scene of address one that is as archaic as it is contemporary When we read are we listening to a voice or being read to If it is not a private and monologic exercise how do we understand the populated scene of reading What reads when we read and how does reading push and pull between temporalities and voices Why do we keep leaving the text when we seek to obey the injunction to stay within its terms Questions such as these produce a fresh even startling consideration of a wide range of literary and popular texts including Hobbes Leviathan Flaubert s Madame Bovary Kant s moral injunctions Sade Val ry Blanchot and de Certeau but also modern fiction film audiobooks and hypertext The power of reading turns out to belong to its surprising engagement with time and direction the deliberate reader stays close but strays tries to fill in the gaps but gets pushed back by a countercurrent The key to the text is sought outside only to be led back to the text and its failure to deliver a final answer Equally at odds with older versions of literary formalism that insist on the self referentiality of the text as well as contextualists who scour an external social order to discover the truth of the text Szendy approaches that very conflict as an oscillation constitutive of reading itself Paradoxically reading is sustained precisely by what interrupts its teleological flow The result is a comic profound and timely reconceptualization of reading which rushes forward only to find itself pushed back into the heart of the text which discovers that this incessant breaking from the text this headlong rushing ahead to the world outside the text is a sequence of overreach delay and return that forms the ragged rhythm of reading itself Powers of Reading is a patient brilliant and illuminating inquiry into the crosscurrents of voice and address one that speaks to the speed and complexity of our time how we are upended by our forward propulsions to consider how multiple voice action and passivity are all rearranged in the scene of reading Judith Butler Distinguished Professor in the Graduate School University of California Berkeley
