Saps Application Forms For Training 2015:

Annual Review of Comparative and International Education 2015 Alexander W. Wiseman, Emily

Anderson, 2016-01-08 The goal of the ARCIE volume is to examine current perspectives and future directions for the field using several essays as a context for discussion and analysis

Police Work and Identity Andrew Faull, 2017-09-07 This is a book about the men and women who police contemporary South Africa Drawing on rich original ethnographical data it considers how officers make sense of their jobs and how they find meaning in their duties It demonstrates that the dynamics that lead to police abuses and scandals in transitional and neo liberalising regimes such as South Africa can be traced to the day to day experiences and ambitions of the average police officer It is about the stories they tell themselves about themselves and their social worlds and how these shape the order they produce through their work By focusing on police officers this book positions the individual in primacy over the organisation asking what policing looks like when motivated by the pursuit of ontological security in precarious contexts It acknowledges but downplays the importance of police culture in determining officers attitudes and behaviour and reminds readers that most officers lives are entangled in and shaped by a range of social political and cultural forces It suggests that a job in the South African Police Service SAPS is primarily just that a job Most officers join the organisation after other dreams have slipped beyond reach their presence in the Service being almost accidental But once employed they re write their self narratives and enact carefully choreographed performances to ease managerial and public pressure and to rationalize their coercive practices In an era where evidence and what works reigns supreme and where cop culture is often deemed a primary socializing force this book emphasises how officers personal histories ambitions and vulnerabilities remain central to how policing unfolds on the street

Ten Steps to Complex Learning Jeroen J. G. van Merriënboer, Paul A. Kirschner, 2017-10-23 Ten Steps to Complex Learning presents a path from an educational problem to a solution in a way that students practitioners and researchers can understand and easily use Students in the field of instructional design can use this book to broaden their knowledge of the design of training programs for complex learning Practitioners can use this book as a reference guide to support their design of courses curricula or environments for complex learning Now fully revised to incorporate the most current research in the field this third edition of Ten Steps to Complex Learning includes many references to recent research as well as two new chapters One new chapter deals with the training of 21st century skills in educational programs based on the Ten Steps The other deals with the design of assessment programs that are fully aligned with the Ten Steps In the closing chapter new directions for the further development of the Ten Steps are discussed

Prof. Izhar, 2015-08-09 Police Integrity in South Africa Sanja Kutnjak Ivkovich, Adri Sauerman, 2020-04-29 Policing in South Africa has gained notoriety through its extensive history of oppressive law enforcement In 1994 as the country's apartheid system was replaced with a democratic order the new government faced the significant challenge of transforming the South African police force into a democratic police agency the South African Police Service SAPS that would provide unbiased policing to all the country's people. More than two decades since the initiation of the reforms, it appears that the SAPS has rapidly developed a reputation as a police agency beset by challenges to its integrity. This book offers a unique perspective by providing in-depth analyses of police integrity in South Africa. It is a case study that systematically and empirically explores the contours of police integrity in a young democracy. Using the organizational theory of police integrity, the book analyzes the complex set of historical, legal, political, social, and economic circumstances shaping police integrity. A discussion of the theoretical framework is accompanied by the results of a nationwide survey of nearly 900 SAPS officers probing their familiarity with official rules, their expectations of discipline within the SAPS, and their willingness to report misconduct. The book also examines the influence of the respondents' race, gender, and supervisory status on police integrity. Written in a clear and direct style, this book will appeal to students and scholars of criminology, policing, sociology, political science, as well as to police administrators interested in expanding their knowledge about police integrity and enhancing it in their organizations.

From Extractivism to Sustainability Henry Veltmeyer, Arturo Ezquerro-Cañete, 2023-03-02. This book investigates how extractive capitalism has developed over the past three decades, what dynamics of resistance have been deployed to combat it, and whether extractivism can ever be transformed into being a part of a progressive development path. It was not until the 20th century that the extraction of natural resources and raw materials took on a decidedly capitalist form, with the global north extracting primary commodities from the global south as a means of capital accumulation. This book investigates whether extractivism, despite its well-documented negative and destructive socioenvironmental impacts and the powerful forces of resistance that it has generated, could ever be transformed into a sustainable post-development strategy. Drawing on diverse sectoral forms of extractivism—mining, fossil fuels, agriculture—this book analyses the dynamics of both the forces of resistance generated by the advance of extractive capital and alternate scenarios for a more sustainable and liveable future. The book draws particularly on the Latin American experience, where both the propensity of capitalism towards crisis and the development of resistance dynamics to extractive capital have had their greatest impact in the neoliberal era. This book will be of interest to researchers and students across development studies, economics, political economy, environmental studies, Indigenous studies, and Latin American affairs.

Africa in the Age of

Globalisation Assoc Prof Edward Shizha, Assoc Prof Lamine Diallo, 2015-04-28 This is a collection of bold and visionary scholarship that reveals an insightful exposition of re-visioning African development from African perspectives. It provides educators, policy makers, social workers, non-governmental agencies and development agencies with an interdisciplinary conceptual base that can effectively guide them in planning and implementing programs for socio-economic development in Africa. The book provides up-to-date scholarly research on continental trends on various subjects and concerns of paramount importance to globalisation and development in Africa: politics, democracy, education, gender, technology, global relationships and the role of non-governmental organisations. The authors challenge the familiar paradigms in order to show how imperfectly, if at all, assumptions about globalisation and development theories have failed in their depictions and applications to Africa. The scholars in this volume both inform and advocate for a re-visioning of perceptions on Africa and how it navigates global processes.

Planning for a Material World Laura Lieto, Robert A. Beauregard, 2015-11-06 Today urban scholars think of cities and regions as evolving through networks of human associations, technologies and natural ecologies. This being the case, planners are faced with the task of navigating a profoundly material world. Planning with and for humans alone is unacceptable in the unfolding of urban processes; non-human things cannot be ignored. This inclusive vision has consequences for how planners envision the connections among norms, technologies and life worlds as well as how they design and implement their plans. The contributors to this volume utilize a variety of examples: ecologically sensitive regional planning in Naples, Italy; congestion pricing in New York City; and public participation in Europe, among others, to explore how planners engage a heterogeneous and restless world. Inspired by assemblage thinking and actor network theory, each chapter draws on this new materialism to acknowledge in quite pragmatic ways that spatial politics is a process of becoming that is inseparable from the materiality of urban practices.

School Attendance and Problematic School Absenteeism in Youth Christopher Kearney, Carolina González, David Heyne, 2021-01-04

The Mammoth Book Of Everest Jon E. Lewis, 2015-06-04 This selection of the very best writing on Everest begins with the first attempts and continues via Mallory's failed bid and Hillary and Tenzing's triumph to the disasters of recent years. It features 35 white-knuckle accounts of climbing on the world's highest mountain with all the tragedy and triumph of humankind's striving for the top of the world by those who know the Death Zone best: the climbers themselves. But this is much more than just the best of exhilarating first-hand accounts of climbing on Everest. It includes the full history of the conquest of Everest and provides an evocative portrait of the cruel natural beauty of Chomolungma, The Mother Goddess of the World.

Environmental Crime and Social Conflict Avi Brisman, Nigel South, Rob White, 2015-03-28 This impressive collection of original essays explores the relationship between social conflict and the environment, a topic that has received little attention within criminology. The chapters provide a systematic and comprehensive introduction and overview of conflict situations stemming from human exploitation of environments as well as the impact of social conflicts on the wellbeing and health of specific species and ecosystems. Largely informed by green criminology perspectives the chapters in the book are intended to stimulate new understandings of the relationships between humans and nature through critical evaluation of environmental destruction and degradation associated with social conflicts occurring around the world With a goal of creating a typology of environment social conflict relationships useful for green criminological research this study is essential reading for scholars and academics in criminology as well as those interested in crime law and justice

Politics and Philosophy in Plato's Menexenus Nickolas Pappas, Mark Zelcer, 2015-05-01 Menexenus is one of the least studied among Plato's works mostly because of the puzzling nature of the text which has led many scholars either to reject the dialogue as spurious or to consider it as a mocking parody of Athenian funeral rhetoric In this book Pappas and Zelcer provide a persuasive alternative reading of the text one that contributes in many ways to our understanding of Plato and specifically to our understanding of his political thought The book is organized into two parts In the first part the authors offer a synopsis of the dialogue address the setting and its background in terms of the Athenian funeral speech and discuss the alternative readings of the dialogue showing their weaknesses and strengths In the second part the authors offer their positive interpretation of the dialogue taking particular care to explain and ground their interpretive criteria and method which considers Plato's text not simply as a decontextualized collection of philosophical arguments but offers a theoretically reading of the text that situates it firmly within its historical context The book will become a reference point in the debate about the Menexenus and Plato's political philosophy more generally and marks an important contribution to our understanding of ancient thought and classical Athenian society
