QUESTION	ANSWER
QUESTION 1. Which of the following is not a characteristic of a good research design?	ANSWER 1. The researcher should not use a control group. (Incorrect) A control group is essential for a good research design. It allows the researcher to compare the results of the treatment group to a group that did not receive the treatment. This helps to determine if the treatment is the cause of the results. (Correct) 2. The researcher should use a random sample. (Correct) A random sample is a sample in which every member of the population has an equal chance of being selected. This helps to ensure that the results are representative of the population. (Correct) 3. The researcher should use a double-blind design. (Correct) A double-blind design is a design in which neither the researcher nor the participants know who is in the treatment group and who is in the control group. This helps to eliminate bias. (Correct) 4. The researcher should use a pretest-posttest design. (Correct) A pretest-posttest design is a design in which the researcher measures the dependent variable before and after the treatment. This helps to determine if the treatment has an effect. (Correct)
