The Food Section Kimberly Wilmot Voss, 2014-04-24 Food blogs are everywhere today but for generations information and opinions about food were found in the food sections of newspapers in communities large and small Until the early 1970s these sections were housed in the women's pages of newspapers where women could hold an authoritative voice The food editors often a mix of trained journalist and home economist reported on everything from nutrition news to features on the new chef in town They wrote recipes and solicited ideas from readers The sections reflected the trends of the time and the cooks of the community The editors were local celebrities judging cooking contests and getting calls at home about how to prepare a Thanksgiving turkey They were consumer advocates and reporters for food safety and nutrition They helped make James Beard and Julia Child household names as the editors wrote about their television appearances and reviewed their cookbooks These food editors laid the foundation for the food community that Nora Ephron described in her classic 1968 essay The Food Establishment and eventually led to the food communities of today Included in the chapters are profiles of such food editors as Jane Nickerson Jeanne Voltz and Ruth Ellen Church who were unheralded pioneers in the field as well as Cecily Brownstone Poppy Cannon and Clementine Paddleford who are well known today an analysis of their work demonstrates changes in the country's culinary history The book concludes with a look at how the women's pages folded at the same time that home economics saw its field transformed and with thoughts about the foundation that these women laid for the food journalism of today

Bluegrass State's cultural and culinary history through the rich material found in regional cookbooks. He begins in 1839 with Lettice Bryan's The Kentucky Housewife which includes pre Civil War recipes intended for use by a household staff instead of an individual cook along with instructions for serving the family. Van Willigen also shares the story of the original Aunt Jemima, the advertising persona of Nancy Green, born in Montgomery County, Kentucky, who was one of many African American voices in Kentucky culinary history. Kentucky's Cookbook Heritage is a journey through the history of the commonwealth showcasing the shifting attitudes and innovations of the times. Analyzing the historical importance of a wide range of publications from the nonprofit and charity cookbooks that flourished at the end of the twentieth century to the contemporary cookbook that emphasizes local ingredients, van Willigen provides a valuable perspective on the state's social history.

"My" Official Goat Meat Products Cookbook Sharon Hunt RD, 2017-12-06. My Official Goat Meats Products Cookbook is a combination of goat meat recipes from Southern states, Africa, and the Caribbean, with desserts, plantation popular dessert recipes, and short important facts about the possible kinship bonds and food selection bonds from Africa and former African slaves. The main purpose of the cookbook is to promote the study of where Africans may have come from in Africa during the slave trade. Hopefully, the book will be an excellent African American source.

Laptop Bride Cathy Lynn, 2004. With the explosion of the World Wide Web, planning a wedding has never been more fun or filled with so many choices. The Internet allows you to personalize your wedding, find great ideas, prices, items you want, and sometimes items you never knew existed. Best of all, you can shop anytime of day, 24/7, in any type of weather, any kind of dress, and you don't have to worry about parking or salespeople. Laptop Bride's focus is to help you find what you are looking for quickly while saving aggravation and money. For example, who would have thought that you could rent a chocolate fountain over the internet? Well, you can. Perhaps the groom wants to forego the tux and wear an Elvis jumpsuit instead. Want to surprise your groom? Have a U.S. Flag flown over the capitol on your wedding day. Simply go to HomeofHeroes.com and order your flag in advance of course to fly at the exact time of your wedding. Need a recipe and directions to make the groom an armadillo cake? We have the links. We have links for designer gowns, veils, favors, and more. Let's face it, shopping on line is the ultimate in convenience, opportunity, and fun.
