Recipes United States. Department of the Army,1950 The Muse of Menus Constance Crawford,1988 This book began when I set myself the deceptively simple task of writing out some recipes for my four grown sons and daughters As an introduction to the recipe collection I wrote the story of how I learned to make our family s favorite dish Betty Woodman s Pancakes Then I thought David Ann Alan and Melissa might be encouraged to know that I too was once a beginning cook so I wrote about the Very Special Chicken and Noodles disaster Then I wanted them to know about my childhood by the mountain lake my life s first friend there and how his mother taught me to make tacos her way Recipe led to story story to character character back to recipe until I began to see cooking as a strand that weaves through every part of our lives connecting us to our intimate past touching our most vital feelings and relationships reminding us of our best comedies and our tragedies as well From a short collection of recipes my project became this book about my life and cooking

Food and Everyday Life on Kentucky Family Farms, 1920-1950 John van Willigen,Anne van Willigen,2021-12-14 The foods Kentuckians love to eat today biscuits and gravy country ham and eggs soup beans and cornbread fried chicken and shucky beans and fried apple pie and boiled custard all were staples on the Kentucky family farms in the early twentieth century Each of these dishes has evolved as part of the farming lifestyle of a particular time and place utilizing available ingredients and complementing busy daily schedules Though the way of life associated with these farms in the first half of the twentieth century has mostly disappeared the foodways have become a key part of Kentucky's cultural identity In Food and Everyday Life on Kentucky Family Farms 1920-1950 John van Willigen and Anne van Willigen examine the foodways the practices knowledge and traditions found in a community regarding the planting preparation consumption and preservation of Kentucky family farms in the first half of the last century This was an era marked by significant changes in the farming industry and in rural communities including the introduction of the New Deal market quota system the creation of the University of Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service the expansion of basic infrastructures into rural areas the increased availability of new technologies and the massive migration from rural to urban areas The result was a revolutionary change from family based subsistence farming to market based agricultural production which altered not only farmers relationships to food in Kentucky but the social relations within the state's rural communities Based on interviews conducted by the University of Kentucky's Family Farm Project and supplemented by archival research photographs and recipes Food and Everyday Life on Kentucky Family Farms 1920-1950 recalls a vanishing way of life in rural Kentucky By documenting the lives and experiences of Kentucky farmers the book ensures that traditional folk and foodways in Kentucky's most important industry will be remembered
