

Introduction

Washington and DuBois are two leaders who supported black American education and development as a way of attaining economic, social and political empowerment. However, their approach and strategies for achieving these goals were completely different. Booker T. Washington advocated for gradual economic empowerment at the expense of political rights while DuBois opposed this strategy. DuBois was advocating for total equality. He wanted the Black Americans equal educational rights and opportunities just like the white Americans (DuBois, 1908). These two opposing strategies have gained support as well as criticism with the conservatives supporting Washington's view while the reformist tended to agree with DuBois. The difference in philosophy between these two leaders led to the emergence of the Bookerites and Niagarites.

B. T. Washington's Philosophy

Booker Taliaferro Washington was among the great black educators in the late 19th century. Washington was very influential on the southern race relations. Washington advocated for an education method that was supported by his followers, but rejected by reformers. His philosophy had three important aspects. The first aspect was accommodation. In his view, he believed that the Black Americans should accept that they were inferior to the white Americans, and could not attain or get the same level or type of education that the white Americans were getting (Reagan & Ferris, 1989). The white Americans were given more opportunities to attain
