Princeton Tec cares about the environment and recommends recycling batteries. For more information about battery recycling, please go to: www.batteryrecycling.com

IMPORTANT: ⚠

Remove batteries during long periods of storage. Remove exhausted batteries from light immediately.

O-Ring

Occasionally clean and lightly lubricate the O-ring and Lens Cap threads. Use only silicone grease, never use aerosol spray lubricants.

WARNING: ⚠

All plastic components are made of High-Impact resistant polycarbonate plastic. Certain forms of aerosol sprays can cause damage and void warranty.

NOTE: Some battery types can emit hydrogen gas, which can create an explosion potential in sealed devices if it is not vented or removed. The Tec 40 is equipped with a platinum catalyst to remove this gas.

Maintenance

As with any outdoor equipment, the light should be kept clean with soap and water. Avoid getting dirt in the threads of the lens cap. If this should occur, take the light apart, remove the batteries and clean the light with soap and water, lubricate o-ring and reassemble the light.

Trouble Shooting

If the Tec 40 fails to light:

- Check the batteries for proper installation.
- Replace batteries if proper installation is confirmed.
- Replace the Halogen bulb
- Check the inside of the light for water. (the seal may have been compromised)

The light will resume normal operation once

- Princeton Tec calculates total burn time as the time it takes for the light source to produce a minimum of 0.25 lux at 2 meters. 0.25 lux is about the equivalent of a full moon on a clear night.
- Princeton Tec calcule le temps d'illumination total comme étant la durée écoulee avant que la torche ne produise un minimum de 0,25 lux à 2 mètres. 0,25 lux est à peu près l'équivalent de la pleine lune par une nuit au ciel dégagé.
- Princeton Tec berechnet die Gesamtleuchtdauer als die Zeit, in der die Lichtquelle eine Mindesthelligkeit von 0,25 Lux in zwei Metern Entfernung produziert. 0,25 Lux entsprechen dem Licht des Vollmonds in einer klaren Nacht.

the water is shaken or blown out and the light is left open until completely dry. If the light has been contaminated with salt water, flush the unit with fresh water and dry as described above.

Klinger,2013-03-14 The stream of our consciousness contains an almost unceasing parade of sensation like experiences even in the absence of any external stimulation to produce them We experience picture like things sound like things and more our experiences can resemble any of our sense modalities These experiences are what we refer to by the phrase mental imagery The images need not be vivid People who doubt that they experience visual imagery are often persuaded by a simple exercise count the windows of the house in which you live Nearly everyone performs this task by walking around the house in imagination while counting windows or by walking through the house counting them from the inside The imaginary windows seem to be set in visual space There is a temptation to point at them with an index finger while one counts even though the images may never become vivid enough to seem like an actual visual experience But if they seem set in visual space if they can be pointed at they clearly constitute a sensory like experience in some meaningful way U S Navy Diving Manual: Air diving ,1988 *T.I.S.C.A. Superintendent of Documents,1993 Contemporary Famine Analysis Olivier Rubin,2015-12-11 This Brief provides some answers as to why famines continue to torment humankind here in the 21st century despite all our progress in food production logistics information dissemination and relief work Contemporary famines are inherently political and so the interesting question is not how famines can be prevented but why they are allowed to develop in the first place only by understanding the latter is there hope to eradicate major famines The Brief assesses the various analytical approaches to the understanding of famine from the classical approaches inspired by Thomas Malthus to the newer economic approaches based on Amartya Sen While all approaches contribute with important insights on famine dynamics they also struggle to capture the political dimension of contemporary famines The Brief develops a political approach capable of addressing this important but messy political dimension of contemporary famines The approach builds on principles of humanitarian accountability the moral responsibility to alleviate suffering from famine as well as political accountability the interests and power relations involved in famine outcomes Ethnicity and Organizational Diversity Wendy V. Lewis Chung,1997 This book investigates the influence of ethnicity on the development of psychological climate perceptions and discusses the implications of this influence on diversity in organizations Cultivating individuals within corporations to value diversity may prove to be challenging since this process is a cognitive and psychological one This book regards organizational members perceptions of their organization as real and suggests that they ought to be taken as such Consequently the success of an organization s diversity efforts is contingent on the attention it pays to the perceptions that its members hold not only about human difference but also about issues of diversity within their organization It is only when members perceptions are determined that organizations should proceed to employ diversity programs Imagery American Association for the Study of Mental Imagery.
