

PRINCETON ESSAY SAMPLE

During a game of hide-and-seek, the hiding spot I had in mind was taken by a girl named Mary. There was room for two and if we were quiet, no one would find us, so there we both remained. We struck up a whispered conversation and emerged from our hidden alcove as fast friends. In the five years since then, Mary has become my best friend. Last spring an experience threatened our relationship. Our orchestra was preparing for the most prominent performance of the year, and one of the soloists had to quit. Although Mary was listed as the understudy, the director requested that I learn the part as well. Although I was better suited to play the solo I didn't want to admit it. I still hoped that my best friend would be selected, so I held myself back, aiming to avoid the conductor's notice. During this time, Mary became distant. Eventually, though, she came to me and said she knew I deserved the part. She told me it was time to stop hiding. I then realized that holding back was an insult to us both. I had to be true to myself; it was the best way to respect Mary, the conductor, the orchestra, and myself. From then on, I worked harder than I ever had before. A week before the performance, the conductor told me the solo was mine. On the day of the show, I stepped on stage and gave everything I had. I am proud of my performance that day. Mary said she was proud of me, too; she even apologized for her cold disposition. This expression of forgiveness made me understand the true depth and value of the friend I made all those years ago while playing hide-and-seek—the one who helped me understand when the time for hiding had passed, and when the time to seek my full potential had come.

INVESTIGATING COMPARABILITY OF WRITING TASKS WITH PICTURE PROMPTS IN AN IN-HOUSE ENGLISH PROFICIENCY TEST YALI SHI, 2022-04-28 For security reasons using parallel writing tasks within or across different test administrations is common practice in large scale language testing Lack of task comparability would result in unjustified variance in test performance and consequently jeopardize test validity and fairness Thus it is crucial for test developers to gather empirical evidence from different aspects to substantiate the fairness argument that scores are consistent and score based decisions are impartial across parallel tasks Despite many studies hitherto on writing task comparability those addressing picture prompt writing tasks in an integrated manner have remained quite underexplored Therefore this book investigates the comparability of five writing tasks with picture prompts randomly assigned across testing occasions in an in house English proficiency test EPT of a comprehensive university from three perspectives the scores the texts and the raters and test takers Results show that task difficulty is not comparable either in terms of some lexical syntactic and content features elicited or as judged by raters and test takers which could be related with topic familiarity and conceptual clarity of the picture prompt Yet overall task comparability is achieved in not only final scores but also score distribution and classification accuracy The findings support the fairness argument for EPT writing and provide theoretical practical and methodological implications

Population and Development W.T.S. Gould, 2015-05-08 The new edition of Population and Development offers an up to date perspective on one of the critical issues at the heart of the problems of development for all countries and especially those that seek to implement major economic and social change the reflexive relationships between a country's population and its development How does population size distribution age structure and skill base affect development patterns and prospects How has global development been affected by regional population change Retaining the structure of the well received first edition the book has been substantially revised and updated The opening chapters of the book establish the theoretical and historical basis for examining the basic reflexive relationship with exploration of the Malthusian perspective and its critics to examine how population change affects development and exploration of the Demographic Transition Model and its critics to examine how why and to what extent development drives population change These are followed by empirically rich chapters on each of the main components of population change mortality fertility internal and international migration age structures and skill base each elaborating key ideas with detailed and contrasting case studies from all regions of the developing world There are concluding and more integrative discussions on population policies and global population futures Bringing together Population Studies Development Studies and Geography the new edition of Population and Development is a key resource for undergraduate and postgraduate students across a range of programmes with specialist modules on population change There is a large bibliography with major new sections identifying a wide range of online resources for further study Each chapter contains a reading guide with discussion questions The text is enlivened by a number of case studies from around the world most of which are new or have been substantially revised Written by a leading international scholar in population the book successfully integrates cutting edge academic research with the focus and efforts of international development agencies

The Gatekeepers Jen Lancaster, 2017-10-10 How could we know that forever could end at seventeen Anyone passing through North Shore Illinois would think it was the most picture perfect place ever with all the lakefront mansions and manicured hedges and iron gates No one talks about the fact that the brilliant talented kids in town have a terrible history of throwing themselves in front of commuter trains Meet Simone the bohemian transfer student from London who is thrust into the strange new reality of an American high school Mallory the hypercompetitive queen bee and Stephen the first generation genius who struggles with crippling self doubt Each one is shocked when a popular classmate takes his own life except not too shocked It s happened before With so many students facing their own demons can they find a way to save each other as well as themselves

Social Structure and Voting in the United States Robert B. Smith, 2016-03-09 This book analyzes practical and moral influences on voting decisions Undermining the widespread assumption that economic self interest is the key determinant of voting choices it discovers that moral considerations rooted in religious traditions are often the more decisive This finding is confirmed through a close analysis of tangible problems such as child neglect and crime problems which one would expect to trouble practical voters Further this book suggests that political ideologies influence party affiliation rather than the other way around It defines four categories of states in terms of human development and income equality South Heartland postindustrial and balanced It then explains why political color red purple or blue and societal problems vary across these categories Voters moral ideologies it shows combine with a state s measure of income equality and human development to shape a state s readiness to pursue practical solutions to societal problems Finally it shows that moral ideologies of the religious right and authoritarianism two very different concepts are in fact intertwined empirically This book thus suggests that education a key driver of human development anti authoritarianism and deliberative voting should begin in preschools that are both nurturant and instructive Handbook of Formative Assessment in the Disciplines Heidi L. Andrade,Randy E. Bennett,Gregory J. Cizek,2019-05-14 The Handbook of Formative Assessment in the Disciplines meaningfully addresses current developments in the field offering a unique and timely focus on domain dependency Building from an updated definition of formative assessment the book covers the integration of measurement principles into practice the operationalization of formative assessment within specific domains beyond generic strategies evolving research directions including student involvement and self regulation and new approaches to the challenges of incorporating formative assessment training into pre service and in service educator training As supporters of large scale testing programs increasingly consider the potential of formative assessments to improve teaching and learning this handbook advances the subject through novel frameworks intersections of theory research and practice and attention to discernible disciplines Written for instructors graduate students researchers and policymakers each chapter provides expert perspectives on the procedures and evaluations that enable teachers to adapt teaching and learning in process toward student achievement Deciphering Markets and Money Jukka Gronow,2020-02-03 Jukka Gronow s book Deciphering Markets and Money solves the problem of the specific social conditions of an economic order based on money and the equal exchange of commodities Gronow scrutinizes the relation of sociology to neoclassical economics and reflects on how sociology can contribute to the analyses of the major economic institutions The question of the comparability and commensuration of economic objects runs through the chapters of the book The author shows that due to the multidimensionality and principal quality uncertainty of products markets would collapse without market devices that are either procedural consisting of technical standards and measuring instruments or aesthetic relying on the judgements of taste or both In his book Gronow demonstrates that in this respect financial markets share the same problem as the markets of wines movies or PCs and mobile phones and hence offer a highly actual case to study their social constitution in the process of coming into being World Cinema and the Essay Film Brenda Hollweg,2019-05-29 World Cinema and the Essay Film examines the ways in which essay film practices are deployed by non Western filmmakers in specific local and national contexts in an interconnected world The book identifies the essay film as a political and ethical tool to reflect upon and potentially resist the multiple often contradictory effects of globalization With case studies of essayistic works by John Akomfrah Nguyen Trinh Thi and Apichatpong Weerasethakul amongst many others and with a photo essay by Trinh T Min ha and a discussion of Frances Calvert s work it expands current research on the essay film beyond canonical filmmakers and frameworks and presents transnational perspectives on what is becoming a global film practice The Theatre of Sa'dallah Wannous Sonja Mejcher-Atassi,Robert Myers,2021-05-27 Offers new perspectives on Sa dallah Wannous significance as a playwright and public intellectual in the Arab world and world theatre Locating the Global Holger Weiss, 2020-08-10 This volume adds to the plurality of global histories by locating the global through its articulation and manifestation within particular localities It accomplishes this by bringing together interlinked case studies that analyse various temporal and spatial dimensions of the global in the local and the interactions between the local and the global The case studies apply a spatial approach to analyse how global questions of space movement networks borders and territory are worked out at a local level The material draws on the Nordic countries Europe the Atlantic world Africa and Australia and ranges from the seventeenth to the twentieth century It is further divided into sections that address topics such as the translocality of humans and goods local articulations of identities and globalities parliamentarism and anti colonialism the organization of knowledge and the construction of spaces of representation and memory Thinking of Questions Peter Limm, 2015-09-23 This is not a conventional book It is designed to stimulate and challenge all people who are curious to find out about the world they inhabit and their place within it It does this by suggesting questions and lines of questioning on a wide range of topics The book does not provide answers or model arguments but prompts people to create their own questions and a reading log or journal To this end almost all questions have a list of books or articles to provide a starter for stimulating further reading Once you start you will be hooked Never stop questioning Handbook of Automated Scoring Duanli Yan, André A. Dark Times Jonathan Sklar, 2018-09-15 Today sees the rise of nationalism the return of totalitarian parties in Europe to electoral success and the rise of the alt right and white supremacists in the US Thus there is urgency for psychoanalysts with their understanding of cruelty sadomasochism perversion and other mental mechanisms to speak out Jonathan Sklar has risen to the challenge with this timely thought provoking and at times upsetting work Dark Times starts with a look at European history in terms of monuments and mourning before moving into storytelling and the elision of thought and history at this current time including harrowing detail of the brutalities inflicted by ISIS on the Yazidi and concludes with a meditation on the relationship between cruelty in the early environment and hatred of the other within society with particular focus on racism in the US Sklar goes against the grain of brief sound bites which are an aid to quickly pass over painful knowledge Instead he goes into detail to give extremely dark horrid occurrences and the human beings on the receiving end respect and understanding which enables the reader greater access to allowing unconscious things to be made more conscious highlighting the quality of humanity in human beings Also listening to these stories enables us to become more aware not only of what is going on over there but also what is happening here because in our increasingly joined up world here is always implicated and affected too By ridding ourselves of the illusions of our political times we can find greater freedom to think develop challenge and create hope for the future of our children and our grandchildren as well as for ourselves Dark Times is a timely thought provoking and at times upsetting work that is a must read for all those looking for a deeper understanding of today s world
