Constitutionalism, Multilevel Trade Governance and Social Regulation Christian Joerges, Ernst-Ulrich

Petersmann, 2006-10-19 This is a book about the ever more complex legal networks of transnational economic governance structures and their legitimacy problems. It takes up the challenge of the editors' earlier pioneering works which have called for more cross sectoral and interdisciplinary analyses by scholars of international law, European and international economic law, private international law, international relations theory and social philosophy to examine the interdependences of multilevel governance in transnational economic, social, environmental and legal relations. Two complementary strands of theorising are expounded. One argues that globalisation and the universal recognition of human rights are transforming the intergovernmental society of states into a cosmopolitan community of citizens which requires more effective constitutional safeguards for protecting human rights and consumer welfare in the national and international governance and legal regulation of international trade. The second emphasises the dependence of the functioning of international markets and liberal trade on governance arrangements which respond credibly to safety and environmental concerns of consumers, traders, political and non governmental actors. Enquiries into the generation of international standards and empirical analyses of legalization and judicialisation practices form part of this agenda. The perspectives and conclusions of the more than 20 contributors from Europe and North America cannot be uniform. But they converge in their search for a constitutional architecture which limits, empowers and legitimises multilevel trade governance as well as in their common premise that respect for human rights, private and democratic self government and social justice require more transparent participatory and deliberative forms of transnational cosmopolitan democracy. Handbook of International Trade E. Kwan Choi, James C.

Hartigan, 2008-04-15 This second volume of the Handbook of International Trade focuses on the economic and legal analysis of international laws and institutions as they impact trade. Containing chapters written by both economic and legal scholars, this volume encourages cross discipline discussion with writing that is accessible to those approaching the material from any background. Central issues to those studying international trade are addressed including labor, environmental rights and preferential trade agreements, antitrust policy, patent rights, trade liberalization, foreign direct investment. The Changing Structure of International Economic Law P. Verloren Van Themaat, 1981-08 Principles of International Energy Transition Law Frédéric Gilles Sourgens, Leonardo Sempertegui, 2023 Principles of International Energy Transition Law provides a succinct treatment of the legal principles that govern the transition to green energy. The book positions energy transition in a broader energy context and outlines the interactions between different legal disciplines, giving direction on how they can be reconciled.
