involved a shift from a socialist system to a parliamentary democracy and from a command economy to a market one. Due to the deep economic crisis that culminated in 1988 and the peaceful model of change developed and implemented in Poland, the magnitude and manner of implementing various initiatives was unprecedented and had specific implications. This transformation opened Polish society and the Polish economy to the impact of global social and economic changes, triggering successive transformations often overlapping in terms of their causes and consequences. This publication aims to present the course and effects in particular territorial of Poland's socio-economic transformation in the years 1990-2020. The analysis covers the key aspects of this transformation, illustrated with references to the concepts and theories of development, domestic and foreign literature, own empirical research, and existing or newly developed model approaches to transformation in the territorial dimension. The book appeals to researchers and students in the fields of geography, spatial management, economics, and business sociology, and political sciences, public and private economic research institutes, employees of governmental bodies and corporations, consultants in public administration, journalists, and policymakers.
