Lemon-Aid New Cars and Trucks 2012 Phil Edmonston, 2011-01-01 Phil Edmonston, Canada's automotive Dr. Phil, pulls no punches. He says there's never been a better time to buy a new car or truck thanks to a stronger Canadian dollar and an auto industry offering reduced prices, more cash rebates, low financing rates, bargain leases, and free auto maintenance programs. In this all-new guide, he says Audis are beautiful to behold but hell to own, biodegradable transmissions, rodent snack wiring, and mind-boggling depreciation. Idealization in Epistemology Daniel Greco, 2023-07-04 It's standard in epistemology to approach questions about knowledge and rational belief using idealized simplified models But while the practice of constructing idealized models in epistemology is old metaepistemological reflection on that practice is not Greco argues that the fact that epistemologists build idealized models isn't merely a metaepistemological observation that can leave first order epistemological debates untouched Rather once we view epistemology through the lens of idealization and model building the landscape looks quite different Constructing idealized models is likely the best epistemologists can do Once one starts using epistemological categories like belief knowledge and confidence the realm of idealization and model building is entered We can object to a model of knowledge by pointing to a better model but in the absence of a better model the fact that a framework for epistemologizing theorizing involves simplifications approximations and other inaccuracies the fact of its status as an idealized model is not in itself objectionable Once we accept that theorizing in epistemological terms is inescapably idealized a number of intriguing possibilities open up Greco defends a package of epistemological views that might otherwise have looked indefensibly dismissive of our cognitive limitations a package according to which we know a wide variety of facts with certainty including what our evidence is what we know and don't know and what follows from our knowledge
