TBI - Our Never Ending Journey Sharon Marks, 2013-03-28 A book for anyone staying in hospital A great gift for a Tamil or family members who have suffered a traumatic brain injury or stroke and can see the funny side of a journey that has no ending As they say if you don't laugh you will go mad playing the What if game This book is the perfect companion as it can be read in bite size chunks and can be picked up from any page or chapter Put some laughter into a bad situation something all visitors and the patient can enjoy Just try not to laugh out loud too much Chicken Soup for the Soul:

Recovering from Traumatic Brain Injuries Amy Newmark, Dr. Carolyn Roy-Bornstein, 2014-06-24 Whether you are recovering from a traumatic brain injury or supporting someone with a TBI this collection of 101 inspiring and encouraging stories by others like you will uplift and encourage you on your healing journey With a traumatic brain injury TBI occurring every 18.5 seconds in this country concussions the most common chances are you have been touched in some way by this experience TBIs occur due to accidents and sports and are also common in returning soldiers The personal stories in this book by TBI survivors and those who love and support them will help and encourage you and your family on your road to recovery A Different Perspective After Brain Injury Christopher Yeoh, 2017-07-14 Whilst preparing for his travel adventures into a world he had yet to explore Christopher Yeoh was involved in a road traffic accident and experienced something few others would be privileged to witness Eight days in a coma more than a year in and out of hospital and a gradual re introduction to the world of work A Different Perspective After Brain Injury A Tilted Point of View is written entirely by the survivor providing an unusually introspective and critical personal account of life following a serious blow to the head It charts the initial insult early rehabilitation development of understanding the return of emotion moments of triumph and regression into depression the exercise of reframing how a brain injury is perceived and a return to work It also describes the mental adjustments of awareness and acceptance alongside the physical recovery process Readily accessible to the general public this book will also be of particular interest to professionals involved in the care of people who have had significant brain injuries brain injury survivors their families and friends and also those who fund and organise health and social care This unique author account will provide a degree of understanding of what living with a hidden disability is really like

TBI Purgatory Geo Gosling, 2010-09-30 This is the follow up book to TBI Hell which was published in 2006 The author Geo Gosling talks about life 14 years after sustaining a Traumatic Brain Injury Few if any books regarding brain injuries give a perspective of what life may be like 14 years after suffering a brain injury this one does It is a male's perspective who received a TBI at age 25 and is now 39 years old It is also rather humorous in spots as humor is in Geo's opinion the best way to deal with what life is like after suffering a TBI

Reclaiming Travel Ilan Stavans, Joshua Ellison, 2015-05-09 Based on a controversial opinion piece originally published in the New York Times Reclaiming Travel is a provocative meditation on the meaning of travel from ancient times to the twenty first century Ilan Stavans and Joshua Ellison seek to understand why we travel and what has come to be missing from our contemporary understanding of travel Engaging with canonical and contemporary texts they explore the differences between travel and tourism the relationship between travel and memory the genre of travel writing and the power of mapmaking Stavans and Ellison call for a rethinking of the art of travel which they define as a transformative quest that gives us deeper access to ourselves Tourism Stavans and Ellison argue is inauthentic choreographed sterile shallow and rooted in colonialism They critique theme parks and kitsch tourism such as the shantytown hotels in South Africa where guests stay in shacks made of corrugated metal and cardboard yet have plenty of food water and space Tourists they assert are merely content with escapism thrill seeking or obsessively snapping photographs Resisting simple moralizing the authors also remind us that people don't divide neatly into crude categories like travelers and tourists They provoke us to reflect on the opportunities and perils in our own habits In this powerful manifesto Stavans and Ellison argue that travel should be an art through which our restlessness finds expression a search for meaning not only in our own lives but also in the lives of others It is not about the destination rather travel is about loss disorientation and discovering our place in the universe
