The Theory and Practice of Grading Writing Frances Zak, Christopher C. Weaver, 1998-02-05 CHOICE 1998 Outstanding Academic Books Grading is one of the thorniest issues writing teachers must deal with yet surprisingly little has been written on this topic As writing teachers move increasingly toward practices that focus on writing as a process they face a growing need to reconsider their systems of grading to determine whether or not these systems support their pedagogies The authors interrogate the grading of individual papers as well as portfolios and the assigning of end of term grades This collection explores the issues and problems that have emerged as conventional grading practices have lagged behind and been challenged by new theories of language While the book will be of interest to theorists Zak and Weaver have also made the book relevant and useful to teachers whose primary interest is the practical consequences of theory in their classrooms Where theoretical discussion takes place the language is clear and accessible Many of the authors write directly from personal experience telling stories of the classroom or writing of new techniques and approaches they have tried They speak with the voices of teachers and the tone and content of their words convey a sense of the immediacy of the topic

The Reading Promise Alice Ozma, 2024-09-24 A thoroughly entertaining memoir about a single father who read to his daughter from 4th grade until she left for college Washington Post When Alice Ozma was in 4th grade she and her father decided to see if he could read aloud to her for one hundred consecutive nights On the hundredth night they shared pancakes to celebrate but it soon became evident that neither wanted to let go of their storytelling ritual So they decided to continue what they called The Streak Alice's father read aloud to her every night without fail until the day she left for college Alice approaches her book as a series of vignettes about her relationship with her father and the life lessons learned from the books he read to her Books included in the Streak were Great Expectations by Charles Dickens the Oz books by L Frank Baum Harry Potter by J K Rowling Alice's Adventures in Wonderland by Lewis Carroll and Shakespeare's plays

Demythologizing Language Difference in the Academy Mark Waldo, 2004-02-04 In this volume Mark Waldo argues that writing across the curriculum WAC programs should be housed in writing centers and explains an innovative approach to enhancing their effectiveness focus WAC on the writing agendas of the disciplines He asserts that WAC operation should reflect an academy characterized by multiple language communities each with contextualized values purposes and forms for writing and no single community's values superior to another's Starting off with an examination of the core issue that WAC should be promoting learning to write in the disciplines instead of writing to learn Waldo proposes housing WAC in comprehensive writing centers independent of any other department using dialogue and inquiry rather than prescriptive techniques in the WAC program's interaction with faculty in other disciplines and phasing out writing assessment that depends on one test measuring the writing abilities of students from all disciplines In the process of making his case Waldo discusses tutor training faculty consultancy and multilayered assessment programs In addition to presenting the theoretical and practical advantages of discipline based WAC programs he also offers clear and compelling evidence from his own institution that supports the success of this approach to writing instruction Demythologizing Language Difference in the Academy Establishing Discipline Based Writing Programs will be of interest to writing program and WAC administrators writing center administrators graduate students studying composition and educators and graduate students involved in WAC initiatives research and study Beyond the Frontier Jill Dahlman,Piper Selden,2015-10-05 Beyond the Frontier Innovations in First Year Composition is a compilation of the latest research in first year composition presented at and inspired by the Rocky Mountain Modern Language Association s Beyond the Frontier panels The book is divided similarly into panels with the editors having collected a sampling of the composition practices that will stand the test of time The purpose of the book is to present the reader with innovative methods and techniques for incorporation into the first year composition classroom or simply to provide food for thought passing the torch as it were so that new research can be conducted and new findings disseminated The division of the book mimics the panels one would typically find on a particular day during the Rocky Mountain Modern Language Association Conference providing the reader with a taste of what it s like to be in the room with first year composition scholars
