Ruby Minor, 1924 Resources in Education ,1997 Teachers' Personal Epistemologies Gregory Schraw, Jo Lunn

Brownlee, Lori Olafson, Michelle Vander Veldt Brye, 2017-07-01 The focus of this book is to explore teachers evolving personal epistemologies or the beliefs we hold about the origin and development of knowledge in the context of teaching. The chapters focus on a range of conceptual frameworks about how university and field based experiences influence the connections between teachers' personal epistemologies and teaching practice. In an earlier volume we investigated preservice and inservice teachers' beliefs and teaching practices (Brownlee Schraw and Berthelsen 2011). While we addressed the nature of teachers' personal epistemologies, learning and teaching practices and approaches for changing beliefs throughout teacher education programs, the volume did not address conceptual frameworks for the development of teachers' personal epistemologies. To address this gap, the book is focused on teacher educators, teachers and teacher education programmers in universities with an overall aim of highlighting how we might support preservice teachers' involvement in learning that is challenging and inservice teachers' engagement in professional experiences that promote changes in teaching practice. We argue that teachers need to be encouraged to question their beliefs and develop increasingly sophisticated beliefs about their knowledge and their students' knowledge that facilitate learning and intellectual growth.

Educational Progressivism, Cultural Encounters and Reform in Japan Yoko Yamasaki, Hiroyuki Kuno, 2017-06-26

Educational Progressivism: Cultural Encounters and Reform in Japan provides a critical analysis of educational initiatives, progressive ideas and developments in curriculum and pedagogy in Japan from 1900 to the present day. Drawing on evidence of both cultural encounters and internal drivers for progressivism and reform, this book re-evaluates the history of Japanese education to help inform ongoing and future debates about education policy and practice worldwide. With contributions from Japanese scholars specialising in the history and philosophy of education and curriculum studies, chapters consider key collaborative improvements to teacher education as well as group learning, life education, the creative arts and writing, and education for girls and women. The book examines Western influences including John Dewey, Carleton Washburne and A. S. Neill, as well as Japan's own progressive exports such as holistic Zenjin education, Children's Villages and Lesson Study, highlighting cultural encounters and progressive initiatives at both transnational and national levels. The chapters reflect on historical and political background, motivations, influences and the impact of Japanese progressive education. They also stimulate, through argument and critical discussion, a continuing discourse concerning principles, policy, politics and practices of education in an increasingly globalised society. A rigorous and critical study of the history of progressive education in Japan, this book will interest an international readership of academics, researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of progressive education, comparative education, social and cultural history, history of education, Japanese studies, curriculum studies and the history of childhood.
