Quot Moo Quot Is Hard To Do:

Old Testament Quotations in the Fourth Gospel M. J. J. Menken, 1996 From the very beginning of Christianity Jesus followers have tried to legitimize their views of him with the help of the Scriptures This means that if we wish to understand the beginning of the Christian church and of Christian theology we have to examine the early Christian use of the Old Testament A conspicuous way of using the Scriptures consists in directly quoting from them Eleven OT quotations in the Fourth Gospel are the topic of this study These eleven quotations in fact the majority of John s OT quotations differ from the known versions of the OT but are not free paraphrases of the OT text in some cases it is not immediately clear from which passage precisely the evangelist quotes This state of affairs raises the questions which OT passages in which versions John used and how and why the quotations were modified In this study the questions of source and of redaction are dealt with in their interrelationship Can we adequately explain the form of a quotation by taking into account Johannine redaction of an OT passage in a textual form which we know which we can reasonably argue Results of research in the field of early Jewish and early Christian exegetical techniques and devices are of course taken into account Each of the eleven quotations is scrutinized on the points of source and redaction It appears that John mostly used the LXX but that where that translation did not suit his purposes he either translated the Hebrew himself or used an other translation He modified the quotations in agreement with extant exegetical rules and for christological reasons This study gives new insight into an aspect of the early Christian use of Scripture

Matthew's Bible M. J. J. Menken, 2004 What type of Old Testament text did Matthew use as editor of his Gospel On the one hand the editorially inserted fulfilment quotations with their peculiar textual form may be expected to represent Matthew's biblical text On the other hand the remaining OT quotations are mainly Septuagintal and it is often assumed that Matthew reinforced the Septuagintal character of the quotations which he found in his sources In the first part of this study the fulfilment quotations are examined Their textual form is best explained as a Septuagint text that was revised to make it better agree with the Hebrew and to improve the quality of its Greek the evangelist took these quotations from a continuous text In the second part Matthew's remaining OT quotations are investigated If Matthew borrows quotations from his sources he does not adjust them to the LXX but he simply copies them or edits them in his usual way if he inserts quotations into his sources he makes use of his revised Septuagint On the whole this revised Septuagint seems to have been Matthew's Bible
