Mules, Men and Mountains Charles Hays, 2014-06-23 This book is a work of historical military fiction that describes the impact of ski troopers and their Mules on accelerating the end of World War II in Italy That Great War was winding down in Europe but in the Apennine Mountains of Italy large quantities of Italian and Nazi soldiers were still well entrenched They were some of the best troops that either Benito Mussolini or Adolf Hitler could place in action against any Yankee advance Each of them were very capable of doing considerable harm to a typical infantry division which had not been trained to fight under these harsh environmental conditions of thick snow banks extremely low temperatures severe freezing winds and rigorous ecological demands This is to say that a typical infantry division and their artillery would have been seriously stalled by the deep snow drifts As one advisor said For the entrenched enemies it would have been like shooting ducks in a pond Fortunately the US Army listened to the sage advice of their various consultants The US Army formed their own Ski Trooper outfit to rid the mountain tops from their unwanted occupants the soldiers of Italy and Germany That outfit was named the Tenth Mountain Division but as time passed on the newsreels began to call them by a better name they were known as Ruffners Raiders Brigadier General David L Ruffner was the Commanding General of the Tenth Mountain Division Artillery Although The Tenth Division entered the combat zones rather late in the day they still had one of the highest casualty rates for that War of all Wars For the Mules that were involved their loss of life was 94% since they provided such an easy target for the Snipers to kill

The Fateful Lightning Kathleen Diffley, 2021-11 The Fateful Lightning is the second volume of Kathleen Diffley's trilogy on Civil War magazine fiction While her first book of the trilogy Where My Heart Is Turning Ever charted the role of magazine fiction from the Northeast in grounding the rites of citizenship following the end of the Civil War The Fateful Lightning traces the sectional conflicts in a postwar nation and how region shaped the political agendas of these postwar editorials Diffley argues that the journals she examines present stories that give unpredictable results of sectional conflict and commemorate the Civil War differently from the northeastern publishing establishments She weaves this argument through her analysis of four literary journals Baltimore's Southern Magazine Charlotte's The Land We Love Chicago's Lakeside Monthly and San Francisco's Overland Monthly Diffley uses a method of literary analysis that looks at what is not only present in the text but also present throughout its historically informed context gleaned cultural meanings from what the stories also filter out Coupling this literary analysis with city studies Diffley's innovative approach demonstrates how these editorials offer varying gauges of continued political unrest rising social opportunity and conflicting commemorative investments as Reconstruction began to unfold

The Hell of War Comes Home Owen W. Gilman Jr., 2018-02-09 Owen W Gilman Jr stresses the US experience of war in the twenty first century and argues that wherever and whenever there is war there will be imaginative responses to it especially the recent wars in Afghanistan and Iraq Since the trauma of September 11 the experience of Americans at war has been rendered honestly and fully in a wide range of texts creative nonfiction and journalism film poetry and fiction These responses Gilman contends have packed a lot of power and measure up even to World War II's literature and film Like few other books Gilman's volume studies these new texts among them Kevin Powers's debut novel The Yellow Birds and Phil Klay's short stories Redeployment along with the films The Hurt Locker, American Sniper and Billy Lynn's Long Halftime Walk. For perspective Gilman also looks at some touchstones from the Vietnam War. Compared to a few of the big Vietnam books and films this new material has mostly been read and watched by small audiences and generated less discussion. Gilman exposes the circumstances in American culture currently preventing literature and film of our recent wars from making a significant impact. He contends that Americans' inclination to demand distraction limits learning from these compelling responses to war in the past decade. According to Gilman, where there should be clarity and depth of knowledge we instead face misunderstanding and the anguish endured by veterans betrayed by war and our lack of understanding.
