

An illustration of a man and a woman in a conversation. The man, on the left, has a beard and is wearing a patterned sweater. The woman, on the right, has glasses and a ponytail, wearing a school uniform with a red vest and green skirt. They are standing against a green background. Two speech bubbles are above them, and a large dark blue speech bubble on the right contains the title 'SMALL TALK'.

The Gargoyle Andrew Davidson, 2009-06-23 An extraordinary debut novel of love that survives the fires of hell and transcends the boundaries of time On a burn ward a man lies between living and dying so disfigured that no one from his past life would even recognize him His only comfort comes from imagining various inventive ways to end his misery Then a woman named Marianne Engel walks into his hospital room a wild haired schizophrenic sculptress on the lam from the psych ward upstairs who insists that she knows him that she has known him in fact for seven hundred years She remembers vividly when they met in another hospital ward at a convent in medieval Germany when she was a nun and he was a wounded mercenary left to die If he has forgotten this he is not to worry she will prove it to him And so Marianne Engel begins to tell him their story carving away his disbelief and slowly drawing him into the orbit and power of a word he'd never uttered love

Living in Denial Kari Marie Norgaard, 2011-03-11 An analysis of why people with knowledge about climate change often fail to translate that knowledge into action Global warming is the most significant environmental issue of our time yet public response in Western nations has been meager Why have so few taken any action In Living in Denial sociologist Kari Norgaard searches for answers to this question drawing on interviews and ethnographic data from her study of Bygdaby the fictional name of an actual rural community in western Norway during the unusually warm winter of 2000 2001 In 2000 2001 the first snowfall came to Bygdaby two months later than usual ice fishing was impossible and the ski industry had to invest substantially in artificial snow making Stories in local and national newspapers linked the warm winter explicitly to global warming Yet residents did not write letters to the editor pressure politicians or cut down on use of fossil fuels Norgaard attributes this lack of response to the phenomenon of socially organized denial by which information about climate science is known in the abstract but disconnected from political social and private life and sees this as emblematic of how citizens of industrialized countries are responding to global warming Norgaard finds that for the highly educated and politically savvy residents of Bygdaby global warming was both common knowledge and unimaginable Norgaard traces this denial through multiple levels from emotions to cultural norms to political economy Her report from Bygdaby supplemented by comparisons throughout the book to the United States tells a larger story behind our paralysis in the face of today's alarming predictions from climate scientists

Leadership Mastery Dale Carnegie Training, 2010-02-18 In a world quickly becoming more virtual human relations skills are being lost along with the skill of leadership There is a vacuum of leadership in many of our major institutions government education business religion the arts This crisis has arisen in part because many of those institutions have been reinvented with the technological revolution we are experiencing Scientific progress in general and technological progress in particular has been seen as a solution to many of our problems and technology can distribute the answers to those problems far more quickly and efficiently across the globe But in the midst of this technological boom people are becoming isolated from each other What's needed is a new type of leader one who can inspire and motivate others in the new virtual world while never losing sight of the timeless leadership principles In this book readers can learn all the secrets of leadership mastery Gain the respect and admiration of others using little known secrets of the most successful leaders Get family friends and co workers to do what you ask because they want to do it not because they have to Respond effectively when under crisis using proven techniques for thinking clearly and reducing anxiety under pressure A valuable tool that stands next to the classic How to Win Friends and Influence People Leadership Mastery offers a proven formula for success
