The Instruction and Acquisition of the BA Construction by Students of Chinese as a Foreign Language tackles the linguistically unique and notoriously difficult BA construction in Chinese covering its linguistic properties and acquisition by learners of Chinese as a foreign language alongside teaching recommendations Adopting the Interface Hypothesis and the Processing Instruction approach Hongying Xu argues that not all linguistic properties of the BA construction are equally difficult to acquire and that properties that call for knowledge from interfaces including semantics pragmatics and syntax are more difficult to master than those that involve pure syntactic knowledge Xu argues that instructors should provide manipulated input to help learners notice and process these properties before they are required to produce any grammatical and appropriate sentences using the ba construction Newsletter ,1995 A Course in Contemporary Chinese, Textbook 6-2 \(2nd edition: with Workbook 6-2\) The Mandarin Training Center (MTC) at NTNU, 2025-03-01

Politics of Difference in Taiwan T.W. Ngo, Hong-zen Wang, 2011-05-10 Taiwan has been hailed as a successful case of democratization Compared with many other nations the transition from authoritarian rule occurred in a rather orderly fashion Group consciousness emerged as a reaction to the decades long suppression of cultural diversity under martial law as different social groups competed fiercely to exert their political subjectivity This volume is the first study to examine the politics of difference in Taiwan It aims to go beyond ethnic identity as the sole concern for group boundary to acknowledge the interests of other marginalized groups and to look behind reified group boundaries in order to discover group differences as mediated social relations based on overlapping boundaries rather than exclusive opposition In exploring the politics of difference among minority groups and the problems arising from their struggle over political recognition the book challenges the assumptions that groups are ontologically given that groups are internally homogenous and that the particularistic identities have no overlap The chapters offer a broad coverage of major social groups including ethnic minorities recent migrants gay and lesbian groups and marginalized workers They offer perspective analyses of the ongoing struggles by minority groups to overcome subordination
