Sharing Knowledge, Shaping Europe John Krige, 2016-07-22 How America used its technological leadership in the 1950s and the 1960s to foster European collaboration and curb nuclear proliferation with varying degrees of success In the 1950s and the 1960s U S administrations were determined to prevent Western European countries from developing independent national nuclear weapons programs To do so the United States attempted to use its technological pre eminence as a tool of soft power to steer Western European technological choices toward the peaceful uses of the atom and of space encouraging options that fostered collaboration promoted nonproliferation and defused challenges to U S technological superiority In Sharing Knowledge Shaping Europe John Krige describes these efforts and the varying degrees of success they achieved Krige explains that the pursuit of scientific and technological leadership galvanized by America s Cold War competition with the Soviet Union was also used for techno political collaboration with major allies He examines a series of multinational arrangements involving shared technological platforms and aimed at curbing nuclear proliferation and he describes the roles of the Department of State the Atomic Energy Commission and NASA To their dismay these agencies discovered that the use of technology as an instrument of soft power was seriously circumscribed by internal divisions within successive administrations and by external opposition from European countries It was successful Krige argues only when technological leadership was embedded in a web of supportive harder power structures The Paper and Printing Trades Journal, 1886

 Griffith,2023-12-15 In Unraveling the Gray Area Problem Luke Griffith examines the US role in why the Intermediate Range Nuclear Forces INF Treaty took almost a decade to negotiate and then failed in just thirty years The INF Treaty enhanced Western security by prohibiting US and Russian ground based missiles with maximum ranges of 500 to 5 500 kilometers Significantly it eliminated hundreds of Soviet SS 20 missiles which could annihilate targets throughout Eurasia in minutes Through close scrutiny of US theater nuclear policy from 1977 to 1987 Griffith describes the Carter administration s masterminding of the dual track decision of December 1979 the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO initiative that led to the INF Treaty The Reagan administration in turn overcame bureaucratic infighting Soviet intransigence and political obstacles at home and abroad to achieve a satisfactory outcome in the INF negotiations Disagreements between the US and Russia undermined the INF Treaty and led to its dissolution in 2019 Meanwhile the US is developing a new generation of ground based INF type missiles that will have an operational value on the battlefield Griffith urges policymakers to consider the utility of INF type missiles in new arms control negotiations Understanding the scope and consistency of US arms control policy across the Carter and Reagan administrations offers important lessons for policymakers in the twenty first century
