Playing Doctor Joseph Turow, 2010-09-29 Playing Doctor is an engaging and highly perceptive history of the medical TV series from its inception to the present day Turow offers an inside look at the creation of iconic doctor shows as well as a detailed history of the programs an analysis of changing public perceptions of doctors and medicine and an insightful commentary on how medical dramas have both exploited and shaped these perceptions Originally published in 1989 and drawing on extensive interviews with creators directors and producers Playing Doctor immediately became a classic in the field of communications studies This expanded edition includes a new introduction placing the book in the contemporary context of the health care crisis as well as new chapters covering the intervening twenty years of television programming Turow draws on recent research and interviews with principals in contemporary television doctor shows such as ER Grey s Anatomy Private Practice and Scrubs to illuminate the extraordinary ongoing cultural influence of medical shows Playing Doctor situates the television vision of medicine as a limitless high tech resource against the realities underlying the health care debate both yesterday and today Joseph Turow is Robert Lewis Shayon Professor at the Annenberg School for Communication University of Pennsylvania He was named a Distinguished Scholar by the by the National Communication Association and a Fellow of the International Communication Association in 2010 He has authored eight books edited five and written more than 100 articles on mass media industries He has also produced a DVD titled Prime Time Doctors Why Should You Care which has been distributed to all first year medical students with the support of the Robert Woods Johnson Foundation Golden State, Golden Youth Kirse Granat May, 2010-03-15

Seen as a land of sunshine and opportunity the Golden State was a mecca for the post World War II generation and dreams of the California good life came to dominate the imagination of many Americans in the 1950s and 1960s Nowhere was this more evident than in the explosion of California youth images in popular culture Disneyland television shows such as The Mickey Mouse Club Gidget and other beach movies the music of the Beach Boys all these broadcast nationwide a lifestyle of carefree wholesome fun supposedly enjoyed by white middle class suburban young people in California Tracing the rise of the California teen as a national icon Kirse May shows how idealized images of a suburban youth culture soothed the nation s postwar nerves while denying racial and urban realities Unsettling challenges to this mass mediated picture began to arise in the mid 1960s however with the Free Speech Movement s campus revolt in Berkeley and race riots in Watts In his 1966 campaign for the governorship of California Ronald Reagan transformed the backlash against the dangerous youths who fueled these actions into political triumph As May notes Reagan s victory presaged a rising conservatism across the nation

Hollywood in the Age of Television Tino Balio, 2013-12-17 This collection of papers examines the evolving relationship between the motion picture industry and television from the 1940s onwards The institutional and technological histories of the film and TV industries are looked at concluding that Hollywood and television had a symbiotic relationship from the start

Aspects covered include the movement of audiences the rise of the independent producer the introduction of colour and the emergence of network structure cable TV and video recorders Originally published in 1990 A Newscast for the Masses Tim Kiska, 2009 Explores the development of local television news and the economic and social factors that elevated it to prominence As the chief source of information for many people and a key revenue stream for the country's broadcast conglomerates local television news has grown from a curiosity into a powerful journalistic and cultural force In A Newscast for the Masses Tim Kiska examines the evolution of television news in Detroit from its beginnings in the late 1940s when television was considered a wild young medium to the early 1980s when cable television permanently altered the broadcast landscape Kiska shows how the local news which was initially considered a poor substitute for respectable print journalism became the cornerstone of television programming and the public's preferred news source Kiska begins his study in 1947 with the first Detroit television broadcast made by WWJ TV Owned by the Evening News Association the same company that owned the Detroit News WWJ developed a credible broadcast news operation as a cross promotional vehicle for the newspaper Yet by the late 1960s WWJ was unseated by newcomers WXYZ TV and WJBK TV whose superior coverage of the 1967 Detroit riots lured viewers away from WWJ WXYZ TV would eventually become the most powerful news outlet in Detroit with the help of its cash rich parent company the American Broadcasting Corporation and its use of sophisticated survey research and advertising techniques to grow its news audience Though critics tend to deride the sensationalism and showmanship of local television news Kiska demonstrates that over the last several decades newscasts have effectively tailored their content to the demands of the viewing public and as a result have become the most trusted source of information for the average American and the most lucrative source of profit for television networks A Newscast for the Masses is based on extensive interviews with journalists who participated in the development of television in Detroit and careful research into the files of the McHugh Hoffman consulting firm which used social science techniques to discern the television viewing preferences of metro Detroiters Anyone interested in television history or journalism will appreciate this detailed and informative study Emmy Award Winning Nighttime Television Shows, 1948-2004 Wesley
