So Vast The Prison A Novel:

So Vast the Prison Assia Djébar, 2001-05-01 So Vast the Prison is the double threaded story of a modern educated Algerian woman existing in a man's society and not surprisingly living a life of contradictions Djébar too tackles cross cultural issues just by writing in French of an Arab society the actual act of writing contrasting with the strong oral traditions of the indigenous culture as a woman who has seen revolution in a now post colonial country and as an Algerian living in exile In this new novel Djébar brilliantly plays these contradictions against the bloody history of Carthage a great civilization the Berbers were once compared to and makes it both a tribute to the loss of Berber culture and a meeting point of culture and language As the story of one woman's experience in Algeria it is a private tale but one embedded in a vast history A radically singular voice in the world of literature Assia Djébar's work ultimately reaches beyond the particulars of Algeria to embrace in stark yet sensuous language the universal themes of violence intimacy ostracism victimization and exile So

Vast the Prison Assia Djébar, 2002 Girlhood Jennifer Helgren, Colleen A. Vasconcellos, 2010 Girlhood interdisciplinary and global in source scope and methodology examines the centrality of girlhood in shaping women's lives Scholars study how age and gender along with a multitude of other identities work together to influence the historical experience Spanning a broad time frame from 1750 to the present essays illuminate the various continuities and differences in girls' lives across culture and region girls on all continents except Antarctica are represented Case studies and essays are arranged thematically to encourage comparisons between girls' experiences in diverse locales and to assess how girls were affected by historical developments such as colonialism political repression war modernization shifts in labor markets migrations and the rise of consumer culture Contemporary Fiction in French Anna-Louise Milne, Russell Williams, 2021-03-25 Our global literary field is fluid and exists in a state of constant evolution Contemporary fiction in French has become a polycentric and transnational field of vibrant and varied experimentation the collapse of the distinction between French and Francophone literature has opened up French writing to a world of new influences and interactions In this collection renowned scholars provide thoughtful close readings of a whole range of genres from graphic novels to crime fiction to the influence of television and film to analyse modern French fiction in its historical and sociological context Allowing students of contemporary French literature and culture to situate specific works within broader trends the volume provides an engaging global and timely overview of contemporary fiction writing in French and demonstrates how our modern literary world is more complex and diverse than ever before Transnationalism and Resistance: Experience and Experiment in Women's Writing Adele Parker, Stephenie Young, 2013 This study presents a unique collection of essays which focus on the relationships among form aesthetics and transnational women's writing produced in recent years The essays in this volume treat literary works from diverse cultures and geographies concentrating on the intersections of theory and literature This results in a wide spectrum of identities and texts including the work of Swedish poet Aase Berg the Indian translation market the Chicana novel creative non fiction by Croatian writer Dubravka Ugrešić and multilingual hybrid texts by Theresa Hak Kyung Cha in order to provide a framework for an overarching theory of transnationalism as it interacts with newer paradigms of gendered identity and the new forms of literature to which they contribute Transnationalism and Resistance offers a multifaceted approach to transnational studies and constitutes a cogent analysis of the ways in which women's writing informs contemporary global literary Production This volume is of interest for scholars in women's studies literature the social sciences cultural studies and all other fields that take an interest in writing that addresses contemporary global issues

Deleuzian Fabulation and the Scars of History Ronald Bogue, 2010-07-05 The concept of fabulation makes a late appearance in Deleuze's career and in only limited detail but by tracing its connections to other concepts and situating them within Deleuze's general aesthetics Ronald Bogue develops a theory of fabulation which he proposes as the guiding principle of a Deleuzian approach to literary narrative Fabulation he argues entails becoming other experimenting on the real legending and inventing a people to come as well as an understanding of time informed by Deleuze's Chronos Aion distinction and his theory of the three passive syntheses of time In close readings of contemporary novels by Zakes Mda Arundhati Roy Roberto Bolaño Assia Djebar and Richard Flanagan he demonstrates the usefulness of fabulation as a critical tool while exploring the problematic relationship between history and story telling which all five novelists adopt as a central thematic concern This is an original and exciting project by a highly respected specialist in the field

African Freedom Phyllis Taoua, 2018-07-26 The push for independence in African nations was ultimately an incomplete process with the people often left to wrestle with a partial imperfect legacy Rather than settle for liberation in name alone the people engaged in an ongoing struggle for meaningful freedom Phyllis Taoua shows how the idea of freedom in Africa today evolved from this complex history With a pan African interdisciplinary approach she synthesizes the most significant issues into a clear compelling narrative Tracing the evolution of a conversation about freedom since the 1960s she defines three types and shows how they are interdependent Taoua investigates their importance in key areas of narrative interest the intimate self gender identity the nation global capital and the spiritual realm Allowing us to hear the voices of African artists and activists this compelling study makes sense of their struggle and the broad importance of the idea of freedom in contemporary African culture

Autobiography and Independence Debra Kelly, 2005-01-01 In Autobiography and Independence Debra Kelly examines four accomplished Francophone North African writers Moulaoud Feroane Assia Djebar Albert Memmi and Abdelkebir Khatibi to illuminate the complex relationship of a writer's work to cultural and national histories The legacies of colonialism and the difficulties of nationalism run throughout all four writers' works yet in their striking individuality the four demonstrate the ways in which such heritages are refracted through a writer's personal history This book will be of interest to students of Francophone literature colonialism and African history and culture
