Horticultural Therapy Methods Rebecca L. Haller, Christine L. Capra, 2025-04-29 Horticultural Therapy Methods Connecting People and Plants in Health Care Human Services and Therapeutic Programs was the first text to describe the processes and techniques used to provide horticultural therapy interventions and the rationale for their use. The first edition was written to positively impact the professional practice of horticultural therapy and provide an array of strategies for horticultural therapy treatment. Prior to its publication, the topics had only been addressed by other allied professions but had not been specifically tailored for horticultural therapy. The second edition updated the material, added essential information on planning treatment sessions, and provided techniques to address treatment issues for mental health, physical health, vocational skills, and wellness. This third edition revises all chapter content, improves and expands appendices, adds a chapter on building relationships, provides new photos, and includes additional case examples in addition to providing discussion questions, references, further reading, and key concepts.

Horticultural Therapy Methods is a clear, instructive manual that explains the process of treatment planning in horticultural therapy. Session development, including activity or task selections to meet treatment objectives, therapeutic use of self, and relationship building, motivation and behavior management techniques, adaptations and modifications to enable and challenge program participants, how to maximize active engagement in horticulture, and cultivation of plants are covered. Treatment documentation guidelines, practical approaches for mental health and other areas of practice, and connecting people and plants in health care are also included.

Human Services and Therapeutic Programs, Third Edition is a reference and guide for students, educators, and those using horticulture for therapeutic purposes to help construct effective treatment programs. Health care and human service professionals can use this reference in the therapy treatment and education of inmates, residents, patients, trainees, students, and others. The aim of this book is to guide novice and experienced horticultural therapists to use accepted human service practices that are aligned with allied professions.

Weed, Lincoln Weed, 2022-06-01 This book describes an overlooked solution to a long standing problem in health care The problem is an informational supply chain that is unnecessarily dependent on the minds of doctors for assembling patient data and medical knowledge in clinical decision making That supply chain function is more than the human mind can deliver Yet dependence on the mind is built into the traditional role of doctors who are educated and licensed to rely heavily on personal knowledge and judgment The culture of medicine has long been in denial of this problem even now that health information technology is increasingly used and even as artificial intelligence AI tools are emerging AI will play an important role but it is not a solution The solution instead begins with traditional software techniques designed to integrate novel functionality for clinical decision support and electronic health record EHR tools That functionality implements high standards of care for managing health information This book describes that functionality in some detail This description is intended in part to be a starting point for developers in the open source software community who have an opportunity to begin developing an integrated cloud based version of the tools described working with interested clinicians patients and others The tools grew out of work beginning more than six decades ago when this book s lead author deceased originated problem lists and structured notes in medical records The electronic tools he later developed led him to reconceive education and licensure for doctors and other health professionals which are also part of the solution this book describes
