Contours of South Asian Social Anthropology Swatahsiddha Sarkar, 2022-04-28 This book presents a conceptual and methodological framework to understand South Asia by engaging with the practices of sociology and social anthropology in India and Nepal. It provides a new imagination of South Asia by connecting historical political religious and cultural divides of the region. Drawing from the experiences of Indian and Nepali social anthropology, the book discusses the presence of Nepal studies in Indian social anthropology and vice versa. It highlights Nepal or South Asia as a subject for social anthropological research and stresses on pluriversal knowledge production through regional scholarship dialogic social anthropology South Asian episteme post Western social anthropology and the decolonisation of disciplines. In exploring the themes and problems of doing social anthropology in Nepal by Indian scholars, the book assesses the scope of developing the South Asian social anthropological worldview. It explains why social anthropological and sociological inquiry in India has failed to surpass its focus beyond the territorial limits of the nation state. The book examines the issues of methodological nationalism and social anthropological research tradition in South Asia. By using the Saidian framework of travelling theory and Bhambra's idea of connected sociologies, it shows how social anthropology can develop disciplinary crossroads within South Asia. This book will be of interest to students, teachers and researchers of South Asian studies, anthropology, sociology, social anthropology, South Asian sociology, cultural anthropology, social psychology, area studies, cultural studies, Nepal studies and Global South studies.

Radcliffe-Brown Isak Niehaus, 2024-11-01 Alfred Radcliffe Brown 1881-1995 is widely renowned as a founder of modern social anthropology. This biography challenges popular stereotypes of him as a misplaced positivist and colonial conservative. It shows Radcliffe Brown to be a thoroughly cosmopolitan scholar, a committed fieldworker and a sharp critic of colonialism. Radcliffe Brown engaged strategically with colonial authorities to further the interests of his discipline and invoked scientific credentials to critique central aspects of colonial rule. His struggle for intellectual autonomy and advocacy of a comparative sociological approach speaks to many contemporary concerns. The

Social Life of Economic Inequalities in Contemporary Latin America Margit Ystanes, Iselin Åsedotter Strønen, 2017-10-25 This book is open access under a CC BY 4.0 license. This edited volume examines how economic processes have worked upon social lives and social realities in Latin America during the past decades. Through tracing the effects of the neoliberal epoch into the era of the so-called pink tide, the book seeks to understand to what extent the turn to the left at the start of the millennium managed to challenge historically constituted configurations of inequality. A central argument in the book is that in spite of economic reforms and social advances on a range of arenas, the fundamental tenants of socio economic inequalities have not been challenged substantially As several countries are now experiencing a return to right wing politics this collection helps us better understand why inequalities are so entrenched in the Latin American continent but also the complex and creative ways that it is continuously contested The book directs itself to students scholars and anyone interested in Latin America economic anthropology political anthropology left wing politics poverty and socio economic inequalities

Anthropological Theory Robert Alan Manners, David Kaplan, Anthropological theory has been much discussed in recent years yet the crucial questions still remain how can it be defined how is it developed how is it to be applied and how can one confirm it The editors of Anthropological Theory answer these questions by presenting essays relating to various aspects of anthropological theory Their selections from widely scattered and often difficult to obtain sources present a comprehensive set of writings that describe the current position and issues involved in theory The development of field work in anthropology generated a tremendous emphasis on empirical data and research The plethora of information awaiting collection and the enthusiasm with which the field embraced it so immersed anthropologists that they were unable to relate this new information to the field as a whole Manners and Kaplan believe that this lack of generalization had a profoundly negative effect upon the discipline Therefore they look closely into the relationship between field work and theory in an opening essay and go on to present material that demonstrates the value and the necessity of theory in anthropology Essays by anthropologists and other social scientists deal with explanation evolution ecology ideology structuralism and a number of other issues reflecting throughout the editors conviction that anthropology is a science the goal of which is to produce generalizations about sociocultural phenomena The book provides necessary perspective for examining and evaluating the crucial intellectual concerns of modern anthropology and will therefore be important for the work of every anthropologist Robert A Manners 1913 1996 received his Ph D from Columbia University and carried on field work in the Caribbean among American Indians in the Southwest and in East Africa He wrote numerous articles and reviews for anthropological journals as well as many books He was professor of anthropology Brandeis University where he started up the department David Kaplan is professor emeritus of anthropology at Brandeis University He has contributed articles and reviews to various journals He has also done field work in Mexico and his areas of specialty include economic anthropology method and theory and peasant culture of Mesoamerica

Kinship and the Social Order Meyer Fortes, 2017-07-12 One of the world's most eminent social anthropologists draws upon his many years of study and research in the field of kinship and social organization to review the development of anthropological theory and method from Lewis Henry Morgan 1818 1881 to anthropologists of the 1960s It is the central argument of this book that the structuralist theory and method developed by British and American anthropologists in the study of kinship and social organization is the direct descendant of Morgan's researches The volume starts with a re-examination of Morgan's work Professor Fortes demonstrates how a tradition of misinterpretation has disguised the true import of Morgan's discoveries He follows with a detailed analysis of the work of

Rivers and Radcliffe Brown and the generation of anthropologists inspired by them The author states his own point of view as it has developed in the framework of modern structuralist theory with ethnographic examples examined in depth He shows that the social relations and institutions conventionally grouped under the rubric of kinship and social organization belong simultaneously to two complementary domains of social structure the familial and the political Meyer Fortes contribution to the field of anthropology can best be understood in the context of balance of forces between these domains of the personal and public In the latter part of the book he gives detailed attention to the principal conceptual issues that have confronted research and theory in the study of kinship and social organizations since Morgan s time He shows that kinship institutions are autonomous not mere by products of economic requirements and demonstrates the moral base of kinship in the rule of amity this innovative and profound thinker which will continue to excite and stimulate new generations of students and researchers as it did in the past      British Paternalism and Africa, 1920-1940 Penelope Hetherington, 2023-11-06 British Paternalism and Africa 1978 is a study of the beliefs and assumptions of members of the British intelligentsia who concerned themselves with British African politics in the period between the wars The journals and books published in Britain during this period were used as source material to discover the attitudes of politicians missionaries administrators and others concerning African issues In the two decades before the Second World War the debate about the future of the African colonies still seemed to be the preserve of Europeans anxious to influence British politics according to their own particular brand of paternalism It is argued that some writers still used arguments about Britain's civilizing mission while others emphasised the need for a period of reconstruction of African society to be carried out before independence could be granted Only the Marxist Leninist writers rejected doctrines which implied the necessity for continued European presence in Africa

Rapport and the Discursive Co-Construction of Social Relations in Fieldwork Encounters Zane Goebel, 2019-08-19 In accounts of ethnographic fieldwork and textbooks on ethnography we often find the notion of rapport used to describe social relationships in the field Frequently rapport between researcher and researched is invoked as a prerequisite to be achieved before fieldwork can start or used as evidence to judge the value and robustness of an ethnography With few exceptions and despite regular pleas to do so ethnographers continue to avoid presenting any discursive evidence of what rapport might look like from an interactional perspective In a sense the uncritical acceptance of rapport as a fieldwork goal and measure has helped hide the discursive work that goes on in the field In turn this has privileged ideas about identity as portable rather than portable and emergent and reports of social life as more important than how such reports emerge Written for all those who engage or plan to engage in ethnographic fieldwork this collection examines how social relationships dialogically emerge in fieldwork settings      The Archaeology of Death Robert Chapman, Ian Kinnes, Klavs Randsborg, 1981-10-22 This volume brings together studies on the disposal of the dead and the archaeological research potential of found remains

HIV/AIDS and the Social Consequences of Untamed Biomedicine Graham Fordham, 2014-11-13 Drawing on the case of HIV AIDS in Thailand this book examines how anthropological and other interpretative social science research has been utilized in modeling the AIDS epidemic and in the design and implementation of interventions It argues that much social science research has been complicit with the forces that generated the epidemic and with the social control agendas of the state and that as such it has increased the weight of structural violence bearing upon the afflicted The book also questions claims of Thai AIDS control success arguing that these can only be made at the cost of excluding categories such as intravenous drug users the incarcerated and homosexuals who continue to experience extraordinarily high levels of levels of HIV infection Considered deviant and undeserving these persons have deliberately been excluded from harm reduction programs Overall this work argues for the untapped potential of anthropological research in the health field a confident anthropology rooted in ethnography and a critical reflexivity Crucially it argues that in context of interdisciplinary collaborations anthropological research must refuse relegation to the status of an adjunct discipline and must be free epistemologically and methodologically from the universalizing assumptions and practices of biomedicine Patterns of Discovery in the Social Sciences Paul Diesing, 2017-07-05 Social scientists are often vexed because their work does not satisfy the criteria of scientific methodology developed by philosophers of science and logicians who use the natural sciences as their model In this study Paul Diesing defines science not by reference to these arbitrary norms delineated by those outside the field but in terms of norms implicit in what social scientists actually do in their everyday work Corporate Social Responsibility and the Paradoxes of State Capitalism Ståle Knudsen, 2023-05-12 Through a series of case studies in diverse regions of the world this book explores how transnational Norwegian energy and extractive industries handle corporate social responsibility CSR when operating abroad in places such as China Brazil and Turkey With significant state ownership and embeddedness in the Nordic societal model Norwegian capitalism is often represented as benign or ethical By tracing CSR policy and practice from headquarters to operations this volume critically explores the workings of Norwegian corporate capitalism and its engagement with key issues of responsibility accountability and sustainability Nahuat Myth and Social Structure James M. Taggart, 1997 First published in 1983 Nahuat Myth and Social Structure brings together an important collection of modern day Aztec Indian folktales and vividly demonstrates how these tales have been shaped by the social structure of the communities in which they are told Social Protection Programmes Michela Semprebon, 2023-05-23 This book deals with social protection programmes targeted to people trafficked for the scope of sexual exploitation It provides empirical evidence on the N A Ve programme in the northeastern Italian Veneto Region and its evolution It elaborates on the programme by narrating the subjective experiences of practitioners and of a specific group of beneficiaries young Nigerian women some in transition towards the age of majority The book builds on qualitative research including a long ethnographic observation and semi structured interviews carried out in the period 2019 2021 before and during the COVID 19 pandemic It takes an intersectional social work and humanitarian governance perspective to examine the multiple dimensions of vulnerability age gender geographical origin type of exploitation characterising trafficked and sexually exploited Nigerian women It draws attention to the precariousness of protection trajectories but also their variability stressing on the agency of these women This is done with a postcolonial feminist approach by building on the autonomy of migration and the critical humanitarian governance literature while shedding light on the temporal tensions between biographical and institutional times Calling for greater space for women s voices and for their involvement in the co development of protection programmes this book will appeal to scholars of sociology anthropology social work and politics as well as to practitioners and policymakers interested in migration and trafficking The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No
