VALUES

People attach different levels of worth to things based on their sense of value. Values are the principles, standards or qualities that an individual or group of people hold in high regard. These values are the basic determinant of our decision making and the way we live our lives. Our values give us a sense of purpose in life and they determine our level of satisfaction with our choices, consciously or subconsciously. Some values may include love, self-control, liberty, forgiveness, patience, honesty, kindness, patience and loyalty. Values can be learnt and they change with maturity and experience. attaching worth to things makes us willing to fight and stand up for them.

Values can also be defined as the expression of the actual worth or quality of something, they involve one's assessment or judgement of one's worth.

Values can be said to be principles and ideas people hold and cherish as important and worthwhile, which have positive effects. They are important part of our lives because they determine and influence what we believe and stand for.

Manifestation of values.

There are various levels of manifestation of values. The manifestation of values is seen in our lives, actions, conduct or character. Our individual values affect and determine what we do in respect to decision making and relationship with others. Our personal values make us who we want to be, they make up attitude, behaviors and the kind of life we live. Understanding one's personal value will help us to respect and appreciate the rights and views of others. Our personal values will help us contribute either negatively or positively to the society.

The manifestation of our values shows what we stand for which could be positive, e.g. justice, diligence to rules, respect, honesty, equality and harmony. They could also be negative e.g. laziness, dishonesty, indiscipline, etc.

Types of values

There are three types of values;

1. General values
2. Personal values
3. Group values.

1. General values: these are values that indicate traits or behaviors which society views as good and acceptable for the common good, general affair and best interest of all members of the society. Members are however urged to develop or build up these values, some of the values under this category includes: liberty, honesty, human dignity, probity, integrity, contentment, tolerance, hardworking, etc. some of these values have their source from the constitution and some other religions and cultural heritage of people.
2. Personal values: they are values upheld and promoted by individuals in the society. Personal values represent an individual interpretation and perception of general values, for the benefit of individual. An individual is guarded in his decision making by his personal values. Individuals behaves in accordance with their personal values which would be of interest to the. It can therefore be observed that in some cases where personal interest is affected, such personal interest override general interest.

Social Studies Js S3 Second Term:

Globalization and Social Inequality John Chidubem Nwaogaidu, 2013 Globalization tends to promote global homogenization of cultures but its integration processes and interaction systems are hampered by unequal participation governed by the ethos of capitalism. This ethos promotes instead individual interests against societal interests. As the danger of individualism increasingly constitutes a fundamental community burden, it significantly compromises the nation state, threatening the social formation and relational outcomes. Therefore, socially integrated societies with collective initiatives managed by interventionist public institutions with regulative mechanisms and good governance have more potential for equitable development and economic growth. This book examines the impact of globalization and social inequality through an analysis of the impact on society in Nigeria. Series: Sociology Soziologie Vol 80 A Spell of Good Things Ayobami Adebayo, 2024-02-06 BOOKER PRIZE NOMINEE A NEW YORKER AND NPR BEST BOOK OF THE YEAR GMA BUZZ PICK A dazzling story of modern Nigeria and two families caught in the riptides of wealth, power, romantic obsession, and political corruption from the celebrated author of Stay with Me in the lineage of great works by Chinua Achebe and Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie. The New York Times Eniola is tall for his age, a boy who looks like a man. Because his father has lost his job, Eniola spends his days running errands for the local tailor, collecting newspapers, begging when he must dream of a big future. Wuraola is a golden girl, the perfect child of a wealthy family. Now an exhausted young doctor in her first year of practice, she is beloved by Kunle, the volatile son of an ascendant politician. When a local politician takes an interest in Eniola, and sudden violence shatters a family party, Wuraola's and Eniola's lives become intertwined. In her breathtaking second novel, Ayobami Adebayo shines her light on Nigeria on the gaping divide between the haves and the have-nots and the shared humanity that lives in between. The Mirror Eben C.
