Russell, 2013-12-01 The world is ever changing and the way students experience social studies should reflect the environment in which they live and learn Digital Social Studies explores research effective teaching strategies and technologies for social studies practice in the digital age The digital age of education is more prominent than ever and it is an appropriate time to examine the blending of the digital age and the field of social studies What is digital social studies Why do we need it and what is its purpose What will social studies look like in the future The contributing authors of this volume seek to explain through an array of ideas and visions what digital social studies can should look like while providing research and rationales for why digital social studies is needed and important This volume includes twenty two scholarly chapters discussing relevant topics of importance to digital social studies The twenty two chapters are divided into two sections This stellar collection of writings includes contributions from leading scholars like Cheryl Mason Bolick Michael Berson Elizabeth Washington Linda Bennett and many more Journal of Social Studies

Research, 1991 Resources in Education, 1998 Learning From Text Across Conceptual Domains Cynthia R. Hynd, 2013-12-16 This volume is an attempt to synthesize the understandings we have about reading to learn Although learning at all ages is discussed in this volume the main focus is on middle and high school classrooms critical spaces of learning and thinking The amount of knowledge presented in written form is increasing and the information we get from texts is often conflicting We are in a knowledge explosion that leaves us reeling and may effectively disenfranchise those who are not keeping up There has never been a more crucial time for students to understand learn from and think critically about the information in various forms of text Thus understanding what it means to learn is vital for all educators Learning from text is a complex matter that includes student factors social ethnic and cultural differences as well as varying motivations self perceptions goals and needs instructional and teacher factors and disciplinary and social factors One important goal of the book is to encourage practicing teachers to learn to consider their students in new ways to see them as being influenced by and as influencing not just the classroom but the total fabric of the disciplines they are learning Equally important it is intended to foster further research efforts from local studies of classrooms by teachers to large scale studies that produce generalizable understandings about learning from text This volume a result of the editor s and contributors work with the National Reading Research Center will be of interest to all researchers graduate students practicing teachers and teachers in training who are interested in understanding the issues that are central to improving students learning from text
