Theoretical Perspectives, Empirical Studies and Design Profiles Robert Cassidy, Elizabeth S. Charles, James D. Slotta, Nathaniel Lasry, 2019-07-11 This book represents the emerging efforts of a growing international network of researchers and practitioners to promote the development and uptake of evidence based pedagogies in higher education at something a level approaching large scale impact By offering a communication venue that attracts and enhances much needed partnerships among practitioners and researchers in pedagogical innovation we aim to change the conversation and focus on how we work and learn together i.e. extending the implementation and knowledge of co design methods In this first edition of our Research Topic on Active Learning we highlight two of the three types of publications we wish to promote First are studies aimed at understanding the pedagogical designs developed by practitioners in their own practices by bringing to bear the theoretical lenses developed and tested in the education research community These types of studies constitute the practice pull that we see as a necessary counterbalance to knowledge push in a more productive pedagogical innovation ecosystem based on research practitioner partnerships Second are studies empirically examining the implementations of evidence based designs in naturalistic settings and under naturalistic conditions Interestingly the teams conducting these studies are already exemplars of partnerships between researchers and practitioners who are uniquely positioned as in between straddling the two worlds As a result these publications represent both the rigours of research and the pragmatism of reflective practice In forthcoming editions we will add to this collection a third type of publication design profiles These will present practitioner developed pedagogical designs at varying levels of abstraction to be held to scrutiny amongst practitioners instructional designers and researchers alike We hope by bringing these types of studies together in an open access format that we may contribute to the development of new forms of practitioner researcher interactions that promote co design in pedagogical innovation Press Summary - Illinois Information Service Illinois Information Service, 2004-01-15

Learning That Sticks Bryan Goodwin, Tonia Gibson, Kristin Rouleau, 2020-06-05 In far too many classrooms the emphasis is on instructional strategies that teachers employ rather than on what students should be doing or thinking about as part of their learning What's more students' minds are something of a mysterious black box for most teachers so when learning breaks down they're not sure what went wrong or what to do differently to help students learn It doesn't have to be this way Learning That Sticks helps you look inside that black box Bryan Goodwin and his coauthors unpack the cognitive science underlying research supported learning strategies so you can sequence them into experiences that challenge inspire and engage your students As a result you'll learn to teach with more intentionality understanding not just what to do but also when and why to do it By way of an easy to use six phase model of learning this book Analyzes how the brain reacts to stores and retrieves new information Helps you zoom out to understand the process of learning from beginning to end Helps you zoom in to see what's going on in students' minds during each phase Learning may be complicated but learning about learning doesn't have to be And to that end Learning That Sticks helps shine a light into all the black boxes in your classroom and make your practice the most powerful it can be This product is a copublication of ASCD and McREL Teachers in the Movies Ann C. Paietta, 2014-11-18 The teaching profession has a long history in motion pictures As early as the late 19th century films have portrayed educators of young children including teachers tutors day care workers nannies governesses and other related occupations in a variety of roles within the cinematic classroom This work provides a broad index of more than 800 films both U S and foreign which feature educators as primary characters Organized alphabetically by title each entry contains a short plot summary and many also include cast and crew details A detailed subject index is also included
