African Literatures as World Literature Alexander Fyfe,Madhu

Krishnan,2022-11-03 The enormous success of writers such as Teju Cole and Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie demonstrates that African literatures are now an international phenomenon But the apparent global legibility of a small number of mostly Anglophone writers in the diaspora raises the question of how literary producers from the continent both past and present have situated their work in relation to the world and the kinds of material networks to which this corresponds This collection shows how literatures from across the African continent engage with conceptualizations of the world in relation to local social and political issues Focusing on a wide variety of geographic historical and linguistic contexts the essays in this volume seek answers to the following questions What are the topographies of the world in different literary texts and traditions What are that world's limits boundaries and possibilities How do literary modes and forms such as realism narrative poetry or the political essay affect the presentation of worldliness What are the material networks of circulation that allow African literatures to become world literature African literatures it emerges do important theoretical work that speaks to the very core of world literary studies today

Anxious Joburg Nicky Falkof, Cobus van Staden, 2020-10-01 An interdisciplinary account of the life of Johannesburg South Africa's global south city Anxious Joburg focuses on Johannesburg the largest and wealthiest city in South Africa as a case study for the contemporary global South city Global South cities are often characterised as sites of contradiction and difference that produce a range of feelings around anxiety This is often imagined in terms of the global North's anxieties about the South migration crime terrorism disease and environmental crisis Anxious Joburg invites readers to consider an intimate perspective of living inside such a city How does it feel to live in the metropolis of Johannesburg what are the conditions intersections affects and experiences that mark the contemporary urban Scholars visual artists and storytellers all look at unexamined aspects of Johannesburg life From peripheral settlements to the inner city to the affluent northern suburbs from precarious migrants and domestic workers to upwardly mobile young women and fearful elites Anxious Joburg presents an absorbing engagement with this frustrating dangerous seductive city It offers a rigorous critical approach to Johannesburg revealing the way in which anxiety is a vital structuring principle of contemporary life The approach is strongly interdisciplinary with contributions from media studies anthropology religious studies urban geography migration studies and psychology It will appeal to students and teachers as well as to academic researchers concerned with Johannesburg South Africa cities and the global South The mix of approaches will also draw a non academic audience

Literature and the Work of Universality Alice Duhan, Stefan Helgesson, Christina Kullberg, Paul Tenngart, 2024-07-22 In an age of accelerating ecological crises global inequalities and democratic fragility it has become crucial to achieve renewed articulations of human commonality With anchorage in critical theory as well as world literary studies this volume approaches literature and modes of literary thinking as a key resource for such a task Universality is understood here not as an established universalism but as a horizon towards which intellectual inquiry and literary practices orient themselves In the field of world literature there is by now a wide repertoire of epistemological resources through which claims to universality can be both questioned and reconfigured If at one end of the spectrum world literature confronts us with the spectre of homogenisation and the commodification of difference under a regime of global capitalism at another end renewed forms of philological anthropological and ecological attentiveness to the particulars of languages and texts within the crucible of connected histories allow for defamiliarising perspectives both on received historical narratives and aesthetic practices Vernacularity emerges here as a central point of reference for constructing the universal from within the particular the idiomatic and the experiences of social subordination or complicity

Handbook of Anglophone World Literatures Stefan Helgesson, Birgit Neumann, Gabriele Rippl, 2020-09-07

African Migration, Human Rights and Literature Fareda Banda, 2020-12-24 This innovative book looks at the topic of migration through the prism of law and literature The author uses a rich mix of novels short stories literary realism human rights and comparative literature to explore the experiences of African migrants and asylum seekers The book is divided into two Part one is conceptual and focuses on art activism and the myriad ways in which people have sought to write justice Using Mazrui's diasporas of slavery and colonialism it then considers histories of migration across the centuries before honing in on the recent anti migration policies of western states Achiume is used to show how these histories of imposition and exploitation create a bond which bestows on Africans a status as co sovereigns of the First World through citizenship The many fictional examples of the schemes used to gain entry are set against the formal legal processes Attention is paid to life post arrival which for asylum seekers may include periods in detention The impact of the increased hostility of receiving states is examined in light of their human rights obligations Consideration is paid to how Africans navigate their post migration lives which includes reconciling themselves to status fracture taking on jobs for which they are over qualified while simultaneously dealing with the resentment borne of status threat on the part of the citizenry Part two moves from the general to consider the intersections of gender and status focusing on women LGBTI individuals and children Focusing on their human rights and the fictional literature chapter four looks at women who have been trafficked as well as domestic workers and hotel maids while chapter five is on LGBTI people whose legal and literary stories are only now being told The final substantive chapter considers the experiences of children who may arrive as unaccompanied minors Using a mixture of poetry and first person accounts the chapter examines the post arrival lives of children some of whom may be citizens but who are continually made to feel like outsiders The conclusion follows starting with two stories about walls by Hadero and Lanchester which are used to illustrate the themes discussed in the book Few African lawyers write about literature and few books and articles in Western law and literature look at books by or about Africans so a book that engages with both is long overdue This book provides fascinating reading for academics students of law literature gender and migration studies and indeed the general public

Space and planning in secondary cities Lochner Marais, Verna Nel, 2019-09-01 Much of the urban research focuses on the large metropolitan areas in South Africa This book assesses spatial planning in the second tier cities of the country Secondary cities are vital as they perform essential regional and in some cases global economic roles and help to distribute the population of a country more evenly across its surface Apartheid planning left South African cities fragmented segregated and with low densities Post apartheid policies aim to reverse these realities by emphasising integration higher densities and upgrading Achieving these aims has been challenging and often the historical patterns continue The evidence shows that two opposing patterns prevail namely increased densities and continued urban sprawl This book presents ten case studies of spatial planning and spatial transformation in secondary cities of South Africa The book frames these case studies against complexity theory and suggests that the post apartheid response to apartheid planning represents a linear deviation from history The ten case studies then reveal how difficult it is for local decision makers to find appropriate responses and how current responses often result in contradictory results Often these cities are highly vulnerable and they find it difficult to plan in the context of uncertainty The book also highlights how these cities find it difficult to stand on their own against the influence of interest groups property developers mining companies traditional authorities other spheres of government The main reasons include weak municipal finance statements the dependence on national and provincial government for capital expenditure limited investment in infrastructure maintenance the lack of planning capacity the inability to implement plans and the unintended and sometimes contrary outcomes of post apartheid planning policies The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean Since 1950 Simon Gikandi, 2016 The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean since 1950 examines the institutional and social peculiarities that make fiction produced in Africa and the Atlantic World since 1950 important to the history of the novel in English
