

PERSONIFICATION

The sun peeked happily from behind a cloud.

The trees danced back and forth in the wind.

The car happily squealed down the highway.

It was time to go home, but the bell refused to ring.

The warm fireplace seemed to be calling my name.

The angry sky roared and threw lightning around.

The gentle wind softly kissed my cheeks as I walked.

COOKIES The delicious smell of cookies pulled me to the kitchen.

That chocolate ice cream cone is really tempting me.

I can see that news travels quickly.

A Theological Introduction to the Old Testament Mark W. Hamilton, 2018-07-02 The book known as the Old Testament is actually a collection of stories songs prophetic addresses wise sayings and other bits of literature composed over centuries and compiled for the use of worshiping communities These texts appeared in ancient Israel reflecting its traumas and less frequent triumphs Far from being comfortable texts that sedate over stimulated readers they offer critique of the powerful for the sake of those for whom the only tool of overcoming oppression is language itself Because of the distance in time and cultural experience the Old Testament is often inaccessible to modern readers This introduction bridges that distance and makes the connections across time and culture come alive The Bible assembles a wide range of literary types because of the needs of the communities first using it as they preserved the legacy of their past good and bad for the sake of a viable future Their legacy continues as relevant as ever This introduction then seeks to help readers make sense of the variety and hear within it points of commonality as well The Old Testament is a book readers look to for meaning Christian readers especially have difficulty connecting with the theological meanings of the texts Mark Hamilton offers an introduction that addresses theological issues directly and sensitively Considering the massive sweep of literary types and ways of expressing ideas about God A Theological Introduction to the Old Testament offers an alternative to introductions based solely on historical or literary themes
