Why?

Cells are specialized for different functions in multicellular organisms. In animals, one unique kind of cell helps organisms survive by collecting information and sending messages throughout the body. The shapes and features of neurons, which are the primary cells in the nervous system, enable animals to experience all of the five senses; find food, mates, and shelter; and to survive in their diverse environments.

- Draw an arrow through the two cells in Model 1 to show the path of a nerve impulse if a message was being sent through the two neurons.

Model 2 – Membrane Potential
